Fiscal, Defense Chiefs Dropped; Butler Elevated

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan dismissed one-third of his 21-member Cabinet in a dramatic effort Friday to restore the voters' confidence in his Conservative government.

Heading the list of those fired were Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd and Defense Minister Harold Watkinson.

A Cabinet reshuffle had been anticipated as a result of by-election setbacks to the ruling Conservative party, but the extent of the changes went far beyond expectations.

Macmillan elevated Home Secretary R. A. Butler to deputy prime minister, a signal that he has chosen his own successor if developments force him out of the Tory leadership.

The policies of both Lloyd and Watkinson have been under constant attack.

Pay Freeze Assailed

Lloyd's pay-freeze program angered wage earners and critics charged he was favoring the rich.

Watkinson ended Britain's military draft and defended the idea of an independent British nuclear weapons program, even in the face of U.S. doubts.

The other Cabinet members dropped by Macmillan:

Viscount Kilmuir, 62, lord chancellor; Lord Mills, 72, minister without portfolio; Sir David Eccles, 58, education minister; Dr. Charles Hill, 58, housing minister, and John Maclay, 56, secretary for Scotland.

It was the most drastic reshuffle by the 67-year-old prime minister since he took over from Sir Anthony Eden—now Lord Avon—in January 1957. The changes reduced the average age of the Cabinet membership from 55 to 51 years.

Maudling Heads Treasury

The shakeup took Reginald Maudling from direction of the colonial office to Lloyd's job as head of the treasury.

Peter Thorneycroft, a former chancellor and until Friday aviation minister, moved to the Defense Ministry.

The firing of Lloyd, 57, ended an old Cabinet association with Macmillan.

Lloyd was foreign secretary before moving to the treasury and he was right-hand man to Lord Avon at the time of the 1956 Suez affair, when Britain and France attacked Egypt. His dismissal apparently ended any personal dream he had of one day becoming prime minister himself.

GETS NEW POST—In a major British cabinet shakeup announced yesterday by Prime Minister Macmillan, Home Secretary Richard A. Butler (above) was elevated to the rank of deputy prime minister with the title of first secretary of state.

Entertainment Giant Named In Antitrust Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The federal government filed its long-rumored antitrust suit Friday against the entertainment industry giant, MCA Inc.

The firm is the largest producer of filmed television shows, operates the largest talent agency and has big plans for movie production.

The civil action asked U.S. District Court to:

1. Strip MCA of its talent arm, which it already had promised to do effective July 18.

2. Compel MCA to divest itself of Decca Records and its subsidiary, Universal Pictures, both acquired recently. It claimed the deal violates the Celler-Kefauver Antimerger Act.

MCA President Lew Wasserman has notified the Screen Actors Guild that it will surrender its agency franchise on or before July 18. The guild had previously notified MCA that it was withdrawing a waiver permitting participation of talent agencies in film production.

MCA's recent merger with Decca Records, parent of Universal Pictures, was expected to result in a new giant among film studios. MCA's Revue Productions has long dominated the television producing field, with such series as "Wagon Train," "Laramie," "Alfred Hitchcok," etc.

Possibility of an antitrust suit against MCA has been rumored in Hollywood since Justice Department agents months ago began a quiet investigation among agency clients and competitors.

The suit claims that MCA's activities restricted the business of competing talent agencies and program producers. Other alleged results: Loss of adequate representation for performers; forcing of producers and sponsors to buy unwanted items; impeding other producers and sellers from marketing their programs.

Sen. M'Clellan Urges Farm Aid Reforms

Prober Says Need For Shakeup Shown In Billie Sol Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., described the farm aid program Friday as a loosely run structure that broke down badly in its dealings with Billie Sol Estes.

"I think there has been a breakdown of the whole procedure," McClellan said. "It has got to be tightened up in a number of places. There has got to be better administration."

The vast program covering major farm crops, relies heavily on state and county committees of farmers, supervised from Washington.

"I'm not condemning the farmer committee system," McClellan told reporters later, "but it must be supervised and it clearly has not been supervised properly."

Many needed improvements, he said, could be made by administrators simply doing their job.

Officials Slow To Act

McClellan's Senate Investigations subcommittee has been delving for three days into the role of Texas and Oklahoma state and county committees in transfer of 3,000 acres of cotton-acreage allotments to Estes lands in Reeves and Pecos counties in Texas.

The allotments came from farmers who had been forced off their land by public projects.

Testimony Friday showed that it took almost a year after top officials were warned that the deals might be illegal for the Agriculture Department to cancel the allotments and fine Estes $554,000. Meanwhile, he had grown and harvested a cotton crop on the land.

Warnings Received In 1961

Wilson Tucker, deputy head of the department's cotton program, and Howard Rooney, a member of the department general counsel staff, testified that as early as May 31, 1961, they received warning of the deals.

Rooney said he saw the contracts at the office of Rep. Carl Albert, D-Okla., House majority leader, and said at the time that if they were the basis of the transfers the deals were illegal.

This triggered strenuous efforts to obtain the agreements from Texas, and eventually resulted in the formal investigation that canceled Estes' allotments.

Brazil Crisis Ends As Cabinet Wins Approval

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — The Chamber of Deputies approved a Cabinet on Friday selected by Prime Minister Francisco Brochado da Rocha, ending Brazil's 17-day-old political crisis.

The action broke a deadlock between the conservative-dominated Parliament and President Joao Goulart, whose Labor party is in the minority.

The government crisis was considered the primary reason for Thursday's announcement that President Kennedy had postponed the start of his visit to Brazil from July 30 to Nov. 12.

The 13-man Cabinet was approved by a 139-63 vote.

The victory by such a large margin came as a surprise after four days of bickering among political parties.

The appointment of Brochado da Rocha last Monday represented Goulart's third attempt in two weeks to form a new government to deal with Brazil's growing economic troubles, marked recently by food riots that left more than a dozen persons dead.

The new Cabinet is predominantly nonpolitical. Brochado da Rocha is a member of the middle-of-the-road Social Democratic party. His nomination had won overwhelming approval from the chamber Monday.

In presenting his Cabinet choices to the deputies, Brochada da Rocha promised to carry out emergency plans to meet Brazil's economic problems.

C Of C Head Sees Kennedy-Industry Climate Improved

WASHINGTON (UPI)—H. Ladd Plumley, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce said Friday he believes the "climate" between President Kennedy and the business community has improved.

Plumley was questioned by reporters about the feeling among many businessmen that the White House is anti-business after he paid a call at the White House.

Asserting that "I think the climate has improved," Plunley cited the administration's depreciation formula which will mean $1.5 billion in tax relief for business and farmers. He also noted Kennedy's various meetings with businessmen

Nevada Test Of Army's Atomic Mortar Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army apparently will get its first chance soon to fire its Davy Crockett—an atomic mortar for frontline troops — with a nuclear warhead, and under simulated battle conditions.

That seemed to be the crux of an announcement Friday that some 900 troops of the 4th Infantry Division from Ft. Lewis, Wash., will take part in tactical exercises in conjunction with above-ground nuclear tests in Nevada within a few days.

A joint announcement by the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said the troops will conduct "conventional artillery firing" with weapons of a maximum 105 mm caliber. At the same time, it added, ground nuclear systems testing will be held.

The reference to a low-yield nuclear system, rather than a test device, strongly suggested that this will be a weapons test. The exercise will be part of a tactical maneuver called "Ivy Flats."

In the last couple of months, the bazooka-like Davy Crockett has been placed in the hands of combat troops of the U.S. 7th Army in Europe. Control of the nuclear warheads, however, is kept in the hands of special units. They can be fired only with specific orders of the President.

There are at least two types of Davy Crocketts, one carried by an infantryman and another mounted on a jeep. They employ crews of two or three men.

The Crockett can hurl a warhead about six miles, its nuclear warhead carrying the blast power of somewhat less than 1,000 tons of TNT.

Russian Police Halt Ban-Bomb Demonstration

MOSCOW (AP)—A group of Western youths, used to free-wheeling ban-the-bomb demonstrations in their home countries, got a rude shock when they tried one in Red Square Friday. Soviet security police seized their banners.

The stillborn demonstration came as the Soviet news agency Tass, in another in a series of East-West statements on nuclear tests, claimed a moral right for Russia to be the last to hold such tests because the United States started the nuclear arms race in World War II.

Two-dozen young Westerners, ignoring warnings that they would be deported if they went through with a planned demonstration beneath the Kremlin walls, assembled in Red Square Friday morning. They were not molested until they tried to unfurl their banners. Then the police cracked down swiftly.

The Russian toughness shook some of the youths.

"I had not expected this. I thought they would talk to us," said Wayne Mills, 28, Saratoga, Calif., a graduate student at Brandeis University in Boston.

Most of the other demonstrators were British and Scandinavians.

Philip Seed, 32, a British social worker, said the group had offered to give up earlier plans to demonstrate in front of the American Embassy if they could assemble silently in Red Square. This was refused, he said, and the deportation threat was made.

Whether deportation would be carried out was not known, but in any case the Soviet-sponsored Peace Congress the would-be demonstrators were attending in the Kremlin ends Saturday.

The Soviet leader of the congress, Author Alexander Korneichuck, was quoted as having told leaders of the demonstration: "The congress was held here under the condition that there would be free speech inside the hall but no demonstrations outside."

The banners, painted in blue on white, in English and Russian, said: "We demand no more Soviet tests," "Condemn Anglo-American tests," and "All people against all tests."

Two Die In Bus, Truck Collision

BELLEVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Two persons were killed early Friday and 41 injured, four critically, when a fully loaded Greyhound bus collided with the rear of a semi-trailer truck while attempting to pass the slower vehicle west of here.

The impact tore apart the right front section of the bus, and the two vehicles traveled together more than 500 feet after the crash. Both remained upright. The semi-trailer had a heavy load of powdered lead.

The collision occurred on heavily traveled U.S. Highway 40 at 1:05 a.m., about 22 miles west of Indianapolis. Both bus and truck were eastbound, the bus en route to New York from St. Louis, where most of the passengers had transferred from West Coast runs.

The dead were:

William D. Neville, 67, Edinburgh, Ind.

Am[illegible]a Radaszkiewicz, 54, Philad[illegible] Pa.

[illegible]red, all bus passengers, we[illegible]en to Methodist and Marion County General hospitals in Indianapolis.

Nine were admitted to Methodist Hospital and all the others were released after treatment.

Sugar Controls Bill Signed By President

HYANNIS PORT, Mass (UPI) — President Kennedy Friday signed a bill reinstating the tight curbs on sugar supplies which have been holding the domestic price almost three cents a pound above the world market price.

The controls lapsed July 1, but their temporary removal caused no sigificant change in prices.

Signing of the measure was announced shortly after Kennedy arrived here for the weekend. He actually signed it at the White House before leaving.

The new law, effective retroactively to July 1, increases American grower's share of the lucrative U. S. sugar market and cuts back price premiums which foreign growers have enjoyed for many years on sugar shipped to this country.

TV Actor Is Jailed For Possessing Dope

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Billy Gray, who portrayed a teen-age son of the Anderson family in the "Father Knows Best" television series, drew a 60-day sentence Friday for marijuana possession.

Superior Court Judge Edward R. Brand also placed Gray, 24, on probation for three years.

Gray will serve the sentence in a road camp or honor farm rather than in jail.

He told the court in a probation application that he was the product of a broken home and has been on his own since he was 16. Gray said he has been unemployed since 1959.

Negro Leaders Plan New Ga. Demonstrations

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and other Negro leaders said Friday massive demonstrations will be held here if city officials do not ease racial barriers.

King, who was released from jail Thursday after serving only two days of a 45-day jail sentence for participating in anti-segregation marches, has been negotiating with city officials to secure five concessions for the Negro community.

He said agreement apparently was near on four of the points, but city officials have balked at the fifth point — dropping charges against the more than 700 Negroes arrested with King.

U.N. In Danger, Home Declares

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Lord Home warned Friday night that racialism and aggressive nationalism can kill the United Nations.

The British statesman left no doubt that he was addressing his warning to some newly independent African and Asian states, although he did not name them.

Home accused the Communist powers of letting loose "a tide of malice" in the U.N. General Assembly with the sole aim of winning a cheap dividend in power.

Discussing this tactic, as one of the factors that could rock and maybe wreck the world body, Home told the General Council of the U.N. Association: "A small minority (in the assembly) subscribe to what they know to be wrong and dangerous and ally themselves with the Communists to do us maximum harm: while altogether too many of their fellow members allow themselves to be swept along, reluctantly perhaps and somewhat shamefaced, on this tide of malice."

Efforts To End Appropriations Feud Hit Snag

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the feuding Senate and House Appropriation committees looked at the peace pipe Friday but didn't smoke it.

However, progress was reported in the latest attempt to break a deadlock over procedure that has held up final action on the regular money bills to run the government.

They'll meet again Monday afternoon to consider settlement terms again.

"Everybody is in good temper and good humor," Rep. Albert Thomas, D-Tex., told reporters after a closed meeting of five emissaries each from the two committees. Thomas reported progress was made.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Senate delegation, said: "We certainly haven't lost any ground." He said a number of suggestions were made to end the dispute but declined to go into details.

House members said privately that an agreement they thought had been reached informally Thursday became unstuck when some of the senators objected to its terms.

The reported informal agreement would have permitted a House member to preside over about half the conferences where committees of the two bodies of Congress meet to work out their differences over how much money to appropriate for the functions of government.

Traditionally, senators have presided at all the conferences.

Under the reported compromise, the conference meetings would have been presided over by the senator or House member with the longest service in his own branch of Congress.

One House member said the Senate delegation objected to this arrangement.

Two Seized As They Try To Attack Cuba Red Boss

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Two anti-Castro Cubans armed with a knife and 12-inch iron pipe sought to attack Cuban Communist leader Blas Roca on a plane here but were seized by police.

The two boarded the plane during a stopover here, but were unable immediately to spot the Communist leader, who was sitting in the tourist section of the Boeing 707. Roca was on the way back to Havana from a Communist party congress in Montevideo, Uruguay.

The two screamed "assassin" at Roca as they were led away.

Roca appeared pale and shaken after he was told what happened. But he said, "I wasn't afraid."

The two anti-Castro Cubans identified themselves as members of a Cuban constitutional government-in-exile.

"We wanted to punish the murderer of thousands of Cubans," they said.

Three other Cuban refugees, who police said were involved in the plot, also were taken into custody for questioning.

About 50 security agents were on hand when the plane landed at Bogota's El Dorado Airport. Roca remained aboard in a seat between a Cuban army major and a Cuban government official.

Police boarded the plane and offered to give Roca protection if he wanted it, but he declined.

After police left the plane, five Cubans appeared near the ramp. One threw himself against a customs agent guarding the ramp and two others darted into the plane.

Police saw the scuffle and ran in after them.

Promoter's Lawyer Will File Appeal

Three Indicted With Texan Plead Guilty To Fraud

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge R. Ewing Thomason declared Texas agricultural promoter Billie Sol Estes bankrupt Friday.

Estes' attorney, John Cofer of Austin, took immediate exception to the ruling and said he would file an appeal at once.

Thomason's ruling on Estes' financial status came soon after three men indicted with him in what the government says was a multimillion-dollar fraud pleaded guilty.

The bespectacled Estes, 37, once called the "boy wonder" of West Texas financial circles, claimed he was innocent of the fraud charges.

Entering guilty pleas to five of 29 counts were Coleman McSpadden, 45, Lubbock, Tex.; Harold E. Orr, 31, Amarillo; and Ruel W. Alexander, 36, Amarillo.

Officers Of Accused Firm

All were officers of Superior Manufacturing Co., which figured prominently in accusations that Estes and the other three defrauded lending companies of about $22 million by issuing mortgages secured by fertilizer storage tanks which do not exist.

Attorneys pleaded guilty in behalf of Superior Manufacturing, which also was indicted.

Judge Thomason set no date for sentencing.

All remained free on previous bond—$100,000 for Estes and $25,000 each for the others.

Each could be fined $30,000 and imprisoned for 45 years on the five counts to which they pleaded guilty. However, judges normally do not assess the maximum penalty in multicount cases.

Estes and his codefendants also pleaded innocent Friday to the earlier eight-count indictment charging interstate transportation of fraudulent mortgages.

$532,768 Obtained By Fraud

It was this earlier indictment that sent Estes' financial empire crashing and resulted in state and congressional investigations, including the current Senate probe headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

The three pleaded guilty to two cases of mail fraud and two cases of obtaining money from Walter E. Heller Investment Co. of Chicago by fraud. The sums received from Heller to which they pleaded guilty amounted to $532,768. The Heller company says it holds about $7 million of mortgages on tanks which do not exist.

The court documents specify a maximum of 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine on each of the counts of obtaining securities by fraud. One mail count carries a $5,000 fine and 10 years, the other a $5,000 fine.

Churchill Beats Back Infection

LONDON (AP) — Doctors reported Friday that Sir Winston Churchill has beaten back a bronchial infection which threatened his recovery from a fractured left thigh.

His condition was so improved that a spokesman at Middlesex Hospital said there were no plans to issue any further medical bulletins until Monday.

But, he added: "Sir Winston is by no means out of the woods and will still require careful nursing."

The medical bulletin Friday afternoon said the 87-year-old wartime prime minister had a comfortable night and that his temperature—up Thursday—had returned to normal. It added his coughing also had subsided.

There had been some fear the bronchial infection might develop into pneumonia, always a hazard in a man of Sir Winston's age and bulk when immobilized with injury. But antibiotics apparently squelched the infection.

Liz Taylor Completes Work In "Cleopatra"

ROME (AP)—A spokesman for 20th Century Fox said Friday night Elizabeth Taylor has completed her work in the hard-luck movie spectacular "Cleopatra."

Producer Walter Wanger, director Joseph Mankiewicz and Miss Taylor's leading man, Richard Burton, leave Sunday for Egypt for a final 12 days of shooting.

There was no word on whether Miss Taylor planned to remain in Rome or accompany Burton to Egypt. He plays Marc Antony to her Cleopatra and they have been dating heavily for months off the set.

The reference to a low-yield nuclear system, rather than a test device, strongly suggested that this will be a weapons test. The exercise will be part of a tactical maneuver called "Ivy Flats."

In the last couple of months, the bazooka-like Davy Crockett has been placed in the hands of combat troops of the U.S. 7th Army in Europe. Control of the nuclear warheads, however, is kept in the hands of special units. They can be fired only with specific orders of the President.

There are at least two types of Davy Crocketts, one carried by an infantryman and another mounted on a jeep. They employ crews of two or three men.

The Crockett can hurl a warhead about six miles, its nuclear warhead carrying the blast power of somewhat less than 1,000 tons of TNT.

Two Die In Bus, Truck Collision

BELLEVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Two persons were killed early Friday and 41 injured, four critically, when a fully loaded Greyhound bus collided with the rear of a semi-trailer truck while attempting to pass the slower vehicle west of here.

The impact tore apart the right front section of the bus, and the two vehicles traveled together more than 500 feet after the crash. Both remained upright. The semi-trailer had a heavy load of powdered lead.

The collision occurred on heavily traveled U.S. Highway 40 at 1:05 a.m., about 22 miles west of Indianapolis. Both bus and truck were eastbound, the bus en route to New York from St. Louis, where most of the passengers had transferred from West Coast runs.

The dead were:

William D. Neville, 67, Edinburgh, Ind.

Am[illegible] Radaszkiewicz, 54, Philad[illegible] Pa.

[illegible]ured, all bus passengers, we[illegible]en to Methodist and Marion County General hospitals in Indianapolis.

Nine were admitted to Methodist Hospital and all the others were released after treatment.

Sugar Controls Bill Signed By President

HYANNIS PORT, Mass (UPI) — President Kennedy Friday signed a bill reinstating the tight curbs on sugar supplies which have been holding the domestic price almost three cents a pound above the world market price.

The controls lapsed July 1, but their temporary removal caused no sigificant change in prices.

Signing of the measure was announced shortly after Kennedy arrived here for the weekend. He actually signed it at the White House before leaving.

The new law, effective retroactively to July 1, increases American grower's share of the lucrative U. S. sugar market and cuts back price premiums which foreign growers have enjoyed for many years on sugar shipped to this country.

"Off Limits" In Moscow

A Soviet security guard (center foreground) orders a group of youthful Westerners to furl their banner when they staged an anti-nuclear test demonstration yesterday in Moscow's Red Square. In background is historic St. Basil's Cathedral with its onion-shaped domes. Holding the banner, which reads "All People Against All Tests," are from left: Laurid Larsen, 30, of Arhus, Denmark; Sidney Rosen-Neil, a London osteopath, and Wayne Mills, of Saratoga, Calif. Russian Police Halt Ban-Bomb Demonstration

MOSCOW (AP)—A group of Western youths, used to free-wheeling ban-the-bomb demonstrations in their home countries, got a rude shock when they tried one in Red Square Friday. Soviet security police seized their banners.

The stillborn demonstration came as the Soviet news agency Tass, in another in a series of East-West statements on nuclear tests, claimed a moral right for Russia to be the last to hold such tests because the United States started the nuclear arms race in World War II.

Two-dozen young Westerners, ignoring warnings that they would be deported if they went through with a planned demonstration beneath the Kremlin walls, assembled in Red Square Friday morning. They were not molested until they tried to unfurl their banners. Then the police cracked down swiftly.

The Russian toughness shook some of the youths.

"I had not expected this. I thought they would talk to us," said Wayne Mills, 28, Saratoga, Calif., a graduate student at Brandeis University in Boston.

Most of the other demonstrators were British and Scandinavians.

Philip Seed, 32, a British social worker, said the group had offered to give up earlier plans to demonstrate in front of the American Embassy if they could assemble silently in Red Square. This was refused, he said, and the deportation threat was made.

Whether deportation would be carried out was not known, but in any case the Soviet-sponsored Peace Congress the would-be demonstrators were attending in the Kremlin ends Saturday.

The Soviet leader of the congress, Author Alexander Korneichuck, was quoted as having told leaders of the demonstration: "The congress was held here under the condition that there would be free speech inside the hall but no demonstrations outside."

The banners, painted in blue on white, in English and Russian, said: "We demand no more Soviet tests." "Condemn Anglo-American tests," and "All people against all tests."

TV Actor Is Jailed For Possessing Dope

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actor Billy Gray, who portrayed a teen-age son of the Anderson family in the "Father Knows Best" television series, drew a 60-day sentence Friday for marijuana possession.

Superior Court Judge Edward R. Brand also placed Gray, 24, on probation for three years.

Gray will serve the sentence in a road camp or honor farm rather than in jail.

He told the court in a probation application that he was the product of a broken home and has been on his own since he was 16. Gray said he has been unemployed since 1959.

Negro Leaders Plan New Ga. Demonstrations

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., and other Negro leaders said Friday massive demonstrations will be held here if city officials do not ease racial barriers.

King, who was released from jail Thursday after serving only two days of a 45-day jail sentence for participating in anti-segregation marches, has been negotiating with city officials to secure five concessions for the Negro community.

He said agreement apparently was near on four of the points, but city officials have balked at the fifth point — dropping charges against the more than 700 Negroes arrested with King.

U.N. In Danger, Home Declares

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Lord Home warned Friday night that racialism and aggressive nationalism can kill the United Nations.

The British statesman left no doubt that he was addressing his warning to some newly independent African and Asian states, although he did not name them.

Home accused the Communist powers of letting loose "a tide of malice" in the U.N. General Assembly with the sole aim of winning a cheap dividend in power.

Discussing this tactic, as one of the factors that could rock and maybe wreck the world body, Home told the General Council of the U.N. Association: "A small minority (in the assembly) subscribe to what they know to be wrong and dangerous and ally themselves with the Communists to do us maximum harm; while altogether too many of their fellow members allow themselves to be swept along, reluctantly perhaps and somewhat shamefaced, on this tide of malice."

Two Seized As They Try To Attack Cuba Red Boss

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Two anti-Castro Cubans armed with a knife and 12-inch iron pipe sought to attack Cuban Communist leader Blas Roca on a plane here but were seized by police.

The two boarded the plane during a stopover here, but were unable immediately to spot the Communist leader, who was sitting in the tourist section of the Boeing 707. Roca was on the way back to Havana from a Communist party congress in Montevideo, Uruguay.

The two screamed "assassin" at Roca as they were led away.

Roca appeared pale and shaken after he was told what happened. But he said, "I wasn't afraid."

The two anti-Castro Cubans identified themselves as members of a Cuban constitutional government-in-exile.

"We wanted to punish the murderer of thousands of Cubans," they said.

Three other Cuban refugees, who police said were involved in the plot, also were taken into custody for questioning.

About 50 security agents were on hand when the plane landed at Bogota's El Dorado Airport. Roca remained aboard in a seat between a Cuban army major and a Cuban government official.

Police boarded the plane and offered to give Roca protection if he wanted it, but he declined.

After police left the plane, five Cubans appeared near the ramp. One threw himself against a customs agent guarding the ramp and two others darted into the plane.

Police saw the scuffle and ran in after them.

Efforts To End Appropriations Feud Hit Snag

WASHINGTON (AP)—Members of the feuding Senate and House Appropriation committees looked at the peace pipe Friday but didn't smoke it.

However, progress was reported in the latest attempt to break a deadlock over procedure that has held up final action on the regular money bills to run the government.

They'll meet again Monday afternoon to consider settlement terms again.

"Everybody is in good temper and good humor," Rep. Albert Thomas, D-Tex., told reporters after a closed meeting of five emissaries each from the two committees. Thomas reported progress was made.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., leader of the Senate delegation, said: "We certainly haven't lost any ground." He said a number of suggestions were made to end the dispute but declined to go into details.

House members said privately that an agreement they thought had been reached informally Thursday became unstuck when some of the senators objected to its terms.

The reported informal agreement would have permitted a House member to preside over about half the conferences where committees of the two bodies of Congress meet to work out their differences over how much money to appropriate for the functions of government.

Traditionally, senators have presided at all the conferences.

Under the reported compromise, the conference meetings would have been presided over by the senator or House member with the longest service in his own branch of Congress.

One House member said the Senate delegation objected to this arrangement.

Promoter's Lawyer Will File Appeal

Three Indicted With Texan Plead Guilty To Fraud

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge R. Ewing Thomason declared Texas agricultural promoter Billie Sol Estes bankrupt Friday.

Estes' attorney, John Cofer of Austin, took immediate exception to the ruling and said he would file an appeal at once.

Thomason's ruling on Estes' financial status came soon after three men indicted with him in what the government says was a multimillion-dollar fraud pleaded guilty.

The bespectacled Estes, 37, once called the "boy wonder" of West Texas financial circles, claimed he was innocent of the fraud charges.

Entering guilty pleas to five of 29 counts were Coleman McSpadden, 45, Lubbock, Tex.; Harold E. Orr, 31, Amarillo; and Ruel W. Alexander, 36, Amarillo.

Officers Of Accused Firm

All were officers of Superior Manufacturing Co., which figured prominently in accusations that Estes and the other three defrauded lending companies of about $22 million by issuing mortgages secured by fertilizer storage tanks which do not exist.

Attorneys pleaded guilty in behalf of Superior Manufacturing, which also was indicted.

Judge Thomason set no date for sentencing.

All remained free on previous bond—$100,000 for Estes and $25,000 each for the others.

Each could be fined $30,000 and imprisoned for 45 years on the five counts to which they pleaded guilty. However, judges normally do not assess the maximum penalty in multicount cases.

Estes and his codefendants also pleaded innocent Friday to the earlier eight-count indictment charging interstate transportation of fraudulent mortgages.

$532,768 Obtained By Fraud

It was this earlier indictment that sent Estes' financial empire crashing and resulted in state and congressional investigations, including the current Senate probe headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

The three pleaded guilty to two cases of mail fraud and two cases of obtaining money from Walter E. Heller Investment Co. of Chicago by fraud. The sums received from Heller to which they pleaded guilty amounted to $532,768. The Heller company says it holds about $7 million of mortgages on tanks which do not exist.

The court documents specify a maximum of 10 years imprisonment and $10,000 fine on each of the counts of obtaining securities by fraud. One mail count carries a $5,000 fine and 10 years, the other a $5,000 fine.

Churchill Beats Back Infection

LONDON (AP) — Doctors reported Friday that Sir Winston Churchill has beaten back a bronchial infection which threatened his recovery from a fractured left thigh.

His condition was so improved that a spokesman at Middlesex Hospital said there were no plans to issue any further medical bulletins until Monday.

But, he added: "Sir Winston is by no means out of the woods and will still require careful nursing."

The medical bulletin Friday afternoon said the 87-year-old wartime prime minister had a comfortable night and that his temperature—up Thursday—had returned to normal. It added his coughing also had subsided.

There had been some fear the bronchial infection might develop into pneumonia, always a hazard in a man of Sir Winston's age and bulk when immobilized with injury. But antibiotics apparently squelched the infection.

Liz Taylor Completes Work In "Cleopatra"

ROME (AP)—A spokesman for 20th Century Fox said Friday night Elizabeth Taylor has completed her work in the hard-luck movie spectacular "Cleopatra."

Producer Walter Wanger, director Joseph Mankiewicz and Miss Taylor's leading man, Richard Burton, leave Sunday for Egypt for a final 12 days of shooting.

There was no word on whether Miss Taylor planned to remain in Rome or accompany Burton to Egypt. He plays Marc Antony to her Cleopatra and they have been dating heavily for months off the set.

Rejected Suitor Abducts Girl After Slaying Father

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—A rejected suitor shot and killed the father of his pretty high school sweetheart late Thursday night, then put the girl into leg irons and abducted her.

"I suppose he's dead," said Max E. Markham, 20, when officers captured him without resistance in brush along the Spokane River near the Idaho border early Friday morning about two hours after William G. Fowle, 48, was killed.

"Don't shoot, don't shoot. He won't hurt you," said Nancy Fowle, 20, as officers approached the pair. The attractive brunette was unharmed but near hysteria when rescued by police.

She appeared in a daze, crying and sobbing, "I hope Daddy died fast," when taken to her home where she was placed under sedation.

Police Chief Clifford Payne said Markham, released last month from active duty with the Navy Reserve, admitted firing the shots that killed Fowle when he came to pick up his daughter at the KHQ-TV studio where she worked during the summer as night receptionist.

Markham told officers he put leg irons on the girl so she couldn't run away while he tried to talk to her.

The car Markham was driving contained a submachine gun, carbine, pistol, guerrilla knife and about 30 rounds of ammunition. All the weapons were ready for use, but Markham was not armed when arrested.

Cambridge Seaport Project Gets ARA Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Thomas F. Johnson, D-Md., said Friday the Area Redevelopment Administration has approved a grant of $500,000 to aid in financing construction of a deep seaport at Cambridge, Md.

Johnson said at a news conference that he had been advised by the White House of the ARA grant to the Maryland Port Authority, the city of Cambridge and Dorchester County.

The grant, plus a loan of some $400,000 by the Maryland Port Authority, Johnson said, will be used to build the deep seaport as well as docking facilities and access roads in Cambridge.

Cambridge is on the Choptank River near Chesapeake Bay.

Khrush Interviewed

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev was interviewed Friday by a group of American journalists headed by Lee Hills, executive editor of the Knight newspapers and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. The interview is expected to be published Monday. The newsmen are on a 23-day visit to the Soviet Union.

Economy Still Sets Records But 'Lacks Zip'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Department of Labor expert, detailing employment figures Friday, said the economy was still setting records in June "but with no real zip."

Seymour Wolfbein, manpower chief in the department, was asked at a news conference about the possibility of a recession.

"The figures so far, I think, do not portend a recession," he replied.

The over-all job figures for for June, released last week, showed that employment in the month rose to a new record of 69,539,000, which was 1.3 million over the previous month. Unemployment also rose to 4,463,000 million, or 744,000 over the previous month.

If the unemployment rate remains at its current level, Wolfbein predicted, joblessness would be reduced to about 3.2 million by October, normally the year's low point for unemployment.

Elaborating on the June figures, Wolfbein made these observations:

—Factory employment rose to a record 16.8 million. The average work week in factories was 40.6 hours, one-tenth of an hour longer than in May. However, the gain was smaller than usual for the season.

—Average weekly earnings of factory workers reached a new high of $97.03, or 23 cents above the previous month and $4 higher than June a year ago.

Still Operator Given 3 Years

BALTIMORE (AP)—U.S. Judge R. Dorsey Watkins sentenced Brown Janney, 57, Rising Sun, Md., to three years in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison Friday for running an illegal still.

Watkins directed that the sentence run concurrently with a five-year sentence given Janney in Philadelphia in 1961.

Morris V. Brown, 36, Salisbury, Md., was given a two-year suspended sentence on the same charge.

Brown and Janney and two other men were arrested by federal agents Aug. 30, 1960, during a raid on a large still at Rhodesdale, Dorchester County, Md.

Last Thursday, Edward E. Kensil, 61, Philadelphia, was sentenced to five years, to run concurrently with a five-year sentence imposed in Philadelphia in 1961.

Vivien Farrare, 52, Cambridge, Md., was sentenced to nine months last Thursday, also in connection with the Dorchester County still.

37 Firms Request Info On Md. Sites

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The state is averaging 1½ requests a week for information on plant sites in Maryland, the director of the Department of Economic Development said Friday.

George W. Hubley, the director, said his agency had received 37 requests since the beginning of the year. He said the 37 companies represent some 10,000 new job opportunities.

Representatives from 17 of the companies have visited the state and talked with members of the Economic Development Department on matters relative to new plant locations and expansions. Hubley said many of them have visited sites in the state.

The director said his department is currently working with 10 companies who are seeking to relocate or expand.

The companies, he said, were metal-using and science-based industries. The company representatives visited the Eastern Shore and Western Maryland.

Ala. Apportion Plan Challenged

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The mainstay of the Alabama Legislature's newly drafted reapportionment plan was challenged anew Friday in a federal court which may throw out the entire program.

Attorneys for a group of Birmingham residents demanding a louder voice in the lawmaking assembly, which has remained unreapportioned for 61 years, asked the three-judge court to block a statewide election on a proposed constitutional amendment.

The judges, who three months ago gave the legislature a do-it-now-or-else ultimatum on reapportionment, reconvene here Monday to see what has been done.

The suggested change in the state's organic law would give each of the 67 counties a full-time state senator and at the same time reshuffle the House on a population bracket formula. The Senate is made up now of 35 members representing from one to three counties.

Maryland Gasoline Tax Receipts Up 6%

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Net receipts from gasoline taxes totaled $57,878,572 for the fiscal year which ended June 30, an increase of 6 per cent over the previous year.

The comptroller's office said Friday the increase for the fiscal year ended June 30 was $3,280,239 over fiscal 1961's $54,598,333.

Distribution of receipts for fiscal 1962 were: State Roads Commission $28,939,286, Baltimore City $17,363,571, and the counties and municipalities $11,575,741.

Net gasoline tax receipts for June were $5,318,491, an increase of $316,428 over the $5,002,062 received in June 1961.

Racial Battle At Cambridge In New Phase

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Merchants call it a boycott and integrationists call it a selective buying campaign. Whichever, the battle over racial discrimination has opened on a new front in Cambridge.

Since last Monday, members of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee have been distributing leaflets urging Negroes to shop where they can work.

The leaflets list six retail firms approved for shopping by Negroes. But the newspaper Cambridge Banner said its check showed at least two of the six stores approved do not employ Negroes.

Cambridge was the scene during January of picketing of segregated restaurants. There were numerous arrests for trespassing and on several occasions minor violence flared.

Merchants said they had not noticed any impact from the boycott, but said it might show up during weekend shopping.

Mrs. Gloria Richardson, chairman of the Nonviolent Action Committee, is leading the campaign. The Cambridge chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is giving moral support to the campaign.

Edward Power, Co-chairman of the Cambridge Equal Opportunities Commission, called the boycott ill advised. "We urge all citizens to support a policy of cooperation, rather than set progress back by heeding the demands of a few individuals," Power said.

Baltimore Faces Water Use Curb

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore may impose limitations on sprinkling of lawns, perhaps as early as next Monday, if rains don't break the current dry spell.

L. V. Schuerholz, chief of the Bureau of Water Supply, said "The weekend will tell the story. We're trying to hang on."

If imposed, it would be effective in selected areas of the city and neighboring counties on an alternate-day basis. Schuerholz said plans for imposing the limitation already have been drafted but will not be made public until a definite decision has been made.

The Baltimore area last had similar restrictions in July of 1959. Schuerholz said the city has more than enough water to meet the needs of the metropolitan area, but the problem is one of distribution to certain areas.

He said water pressure in some areas of the city becomes very low during periods of heavy demand. An alternate-day ban on sprinkling would help alleviate this, Schuerholz said.

Restrictions already have been imposed in northern Anne Arundel County. Crops have been scorched and water supplies threatened throughout Maryland east of the mountains during the past month.

State Says Security Financial Faces $4 Million Loss

BALTIMORE (AP) — The state contended Friday that Security Financial Insurance Corporation faces potential loss of $4 million because savings and loan associations it insured are in financial trouble.

The estimate was made by Harrison M. Robertson Jr., assistant attorney general, at the opening of a hearing on the state's move to force Security into receivership.

Robertson said auditors have reported that four associations insured by Security are facing losses along with six others in litigation.

Defense lawyers argued that no actual losses have developed yet and that reorganization of some associations would relieve Security of any responsibility.

The hearing started after Judge J. Gilbert Prendergast rejected a defense request for postponement for at least 15 days and a maximum of two months.

One reason for delay offered by the defense was time to line up witnesses expert in standards required for insurance of accounts in saving and loan associations.

Robertson countered no such experts are available because there is no precedent for an operation such as Security.

He called it "the only one of its kind in the country, if not on the face of the globe."

Rejected Suitor Abducts Girl After Slaying Father

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—A rejected suitor shot and killed the father of his pretty high school sweetheart late Thursday night, then put the girl into leg irons and abducted her.

"I suppose he's dead," said Max E. Markham, 20, when officers captured him without resistance in brush along the Spokane River near the Idaho border early Friday morning about two hours after William G. Fowle, 48, was killed.

"Don't shoot, don't shoot. He won't hurt you," said Nancy Fowle, 20, as officers approached the pair. The attractive brunette was unharmed but near hysteria when rescued by police.

She appeared in a daze, crying and sobbing, "I hope Daddy died fast," when taken to her home where she was placed under sedation.

Police Chief Clifford Payne said Markham, released last month from active duty with the Navy Reserve, admitted firing the shots that killed Fowle when he came to pick up his daughter at the KHQ-TV studio where she worked during the summer as night receptionist.

Markham told officers he put leg irons on the girl so she couldn't run away while he tried to talk to her.

The car Markham was driving contained a submachine gun, carbine, pistol, guerrilla knife and about 30 rounds of ammunition. All the weapons were ready for use, but Markham was not armed when arrested.

Cambridge Seaport Project Gets ARA Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Thomas F. Johnson, D-Md., said Friday the Area Redevelopment Administration has approved a grant of $500,000 to aid in financing construction of a deep seaport at Cambridge, Md.

Johnson said at a news conference that he had been advised by the White House of the ARA grant to the Maryland Port Authority, the city of Cambridge and Dorchester County.

The grant, plus a loan of some $400,000 by the Maryland Port Authority, Johnson said, will be used to build the deep seaport as well as docking facilities and access roads in Cambridge.

Cambridge is on the Choptank River near Chesapeake Bay.

Economy Still Sets Records But 'Lacks Zip'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Department of Labor expert, detailing employment figures Friday, said the economy was still setting records in June "but with no real zip."

Seymour Wolfbein, manpower chief in the department, was asked at a news conference about the possibility of a recession.

"The figures so far, I think, do not portend a recession," he replied.

The over-all job figures for for June, released last week, showed that employment in the month rose to a new record of 69,539,000, which was 1.3 million over the previous month. Unemployment also rose to 4,463,000 million, or 744,000 over the previous month.

If the unemployment rate remains at its current level, Wolfbein predicted, joblessness would be reduced to about 3.2 million by October, normally the year's low point for unemployment.

Elaborating on the June figures, Wolfbein made these observations:

—Factory employment rose to a record 16.8 million. The average work week in factories was 40.6 hours, one-tenth of an hour longer than in May. However, the gain was smaller than usual for the season.

—Average weekly earnings of factory workers reached a new high of $97.03, or 23 cents above the previous month and $4 higher than June a year ago.

Still Operator Given 3 Years

BALTIMORE (AP)—U.S. Judge R. Dorsey Watkins sentenced Brown Janney, 57, Rising Sun, Md., to three years in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal prison Friday for running an illegal still.

Watkins directed that the sentence run concurrently with a five-year sentence given Janney in Philadelphia in 1961.

Morris V. Brown, 36, Salisbury, Md., was given a two-year suspended sentence on the same charge.

Brown and Janney and two other men were arrested by federal agents Aug. 30, 1960, during a raid on a large still at Rhodesdale, Dorchester County, Md.

Last Thursday, Edward E. Kensil, 61, Philadelphia, was sentenced to five years, to run concurrently with a five-year sentence imposed in Philadelphia in 1961.

Vivien Farrare, 52, Cambridge, Md., was sentenced to nine months last Thursday, also in connection with the Dorchester County still.

37 Firms Request Info On Md. Sites

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The state is averaging 1½ requests a week for information on plant sites in Maryland, the director of the Department of Economic Development said Friday.

George W. Hubley, the director, said his agency had received 37 requests since the beginning of the year. He said the 37 companies represent some 10,000 new job opportunities.

Representatives from 17 of the companies have visited the state and talked with members of the Economic Development Department on matters relative to new plant locations and expansions. Hubley said many of them have visited sites in the state.

The director said his department is currently working with 10 companies who are seeking to relocate or expand.

The companies, he said, were metal-using and science-based industries. The company representatives visited the Eastern Shore and Western Maryland.

Ala. Apportion Plan Challenged

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The mainstay of the Alabama Legislature's newly drafted reapportionment plan was challenged anew Friday in a federal court which may throw out the entire program.

Attorneys for a group of Birmingham residents demanding a louder voice in the lawmaking assembly, which has remained unreapportioned for 61 years, asked the three-judge court to block a statewide election on a proposed constitutional amendment.

The judges, who three months ago gave the legislature a do-it-now-or-else ultimatum on reapportionment, reconvene here Monday to see what has been done.

The suggested change in the state's organic law would give each of the 67 counties a full-time state senator and at the same time reshuffle the House on a population bracket formula. The Senate is made up now of 35 members representing from one to three counties.

Maryland Gasoline Tax Receipts Up 6%

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Net receipts from gasoline taxes totaled $57,878,572 for the fiscal year which ended June 30, an increase of 6 per cent over the previous year.

The comptroller's office said Friday the increase for the fiscal year ended June 30 was $3,280,239 over fiscal 1961's $54,598,333.

Distribution of receipts for fiscal 1962 were: State Roads Commission $28,939,286, Baltimore City $17,363,571, and the counties and municipalities $11,575,741.

Net gasoline tax receipts for June were $5,318,491, an increase of $316,428 over the $5,002,062 received in June 1961.

Racial Battle At Cambridge In New Phase

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Merchants call it a boycott and integrationists call it a selective buying campaign. Whichever, the battle over racial discrimination has opened on a new front in Cambridge.

Since last Monday, members of the Cambridge Nonviolent Action Committee have been distributing leaflets urging Negroes to shop where they can work.

The leaflets list six retail firms approved for shopping by Negroes. But the newspaper Cambridge Banner said its check showed at least two of the six stores approved do not employ Negroes.

Cambridge was the scene during January of picketing of segregated restaurants. There were numerous arrests for trespassing and on several occasions minor violence flared.

Merchants said they had not noticed any impact from the boycott, but said it might show up during weekend shopping.

Mrs. Gloria Richardson, chairman of the Nonviolent Action Committee, is leading the campaign. The Cambridge chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is giving moral support to the campaign.

Edward Power, Co-chairman of the Cambridge Equal Opportunities Commission, called the boycott ill advised. "We urge all citizens to support a policy of cooperation, rather than set progress back by heeding the demands of a few individuals," Power said.

Baltimore Faces Water Use Curb

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baltimore may impose limitations on sprinkling of lawns, perhaps as early as next Monday, if rains don't break the current dry spell.

L. V. Schuerholz, chief of the Bureau of Water Supply, said "The weekend will tell the story. We're trying to hang on."

If imposed, it would be effective in selected areas of the city and neighboring counties on an alternate-day basis. Schuerholz said plans for imposing the limitation already have been drafted but will not be made public until a definite decision has been made.

The Baltimore area last had similar restrictions in July of 1959. Schuerholz said the city has more than enough water to meet the needs of the metropolitan area, but the problem is one of distribution to certain areas.

He said water pressure in some areas of the city becomes very low during periods of heavy demand. An alternate-day ban on sprinkling would help alleviate this, Schuerholz said.

Restrictions already have been imposed in northern Anne Arundel County. Crops have been scorched and water supplies threatened throughout Maryland east of the mountains during the past month.

State Says Security Financial Faces $4 Million Loss

BALTIMORE (AP) — The state contended Friday that Security Financial Insurance Corporation faces potential loss of $4 million because savings and loan associations it insured are in financial trouble.

The estimate was made by Harrison M. Robertson Jr., assistant attorney general, at the opening of a hearing on the state's move to force Security into receivership.

Robertson said auditors have reported that four associations insured by Security are facing losses along with six others in litigation.

Defense lawyers argued that no actual losses have developed yet and that reorganization of some associations would relieve Security of any responsibility.

The hearing started after Judge J. Gilbert Prendergast rejected a defense request for postponement for at least 15 days and a maximum of two months.

One reason for delay offered by the defense was time to line up witnesses expert in standards required for insurance of accounts in saving and loan associations.

Robertson countered no such experts are available because there is no precedent for an operation such as Security.

He called it "the only one of its kind in the country, if not on the face of the globe."

Fire Destroys Playhouse At Deep Creek

The large frame building housing the Garrett County Playhouse and Sweene Boat Company at McHenry on Deep Creek Lake burned to the ground early yesterday in a spectacular fire.

All of the properties of the playhouse located on the main floor were destroyed and Gene Yell, manager, said the loss was estimated at $5,000.

Paul Sweene of the Sweene Boat Company reported that damage will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

All parts, tools and inventory in the shop were destroyed along with some boats.

The heat as the 50-foot by 100-foot building burned was so intense that boats moored at the Sweene marina 100 yards away were scorched and boat covers burned.

Sweene said, however, the company was open for business yesterday, operating from the dock.

Fire Chief Harold Schell of Oakland Volunteer Fire Department said firemen from Oakland and Accident pulled eight or nine boats out of the Sweene quarters. Some were scorched, however.

No one was injured, he said.

The fire was discovered at 6:15 a. m. by neighbors who aroused Mr. and Mrs. Sweene. The two fire companies were summoned, but upon their arrival the blaze was out of control and the building was "a ball of fire."

Fire Chief Schell said the only thing the firemen could do was to keep hosing down the ground in the vicinity of two underground gasoline storage tanks.

They were successful in keeping the full tanks from being destroyed, he added.

Yell said his troupe did their routine cleaning up of the playhouse after Thursday night's performance and the garbage was hauled to Oakland by the operator of the soft drink bar.

Last night's showing of "The Marriage Go Round" had the biggest audience in the eight years the playhouse has been showing at the lake.

Yell said 217 persons attended the performance, which was in its fourth night of the first week of the eighth season.

The building is owned by Robert and James McCann of Pittsburgh. Prior to their acquisition of it, the structure was used by the Arden Boat Club operated by Arden Mays, formerly of Cumberland.

Tonight's performance of "The Marriage Go Round" will be presented at 9 a. m. in the Dennett Road School on Dennett Road near Oakland.

The board of directors of the playhouse met yesterday and announced next week's play, "Someone Waiting," also will be staged at the school.

Drivers Hurt On Turnpike

The drivers of two vehicles on the Pennsylvania Turnpike fell asleep early yesterday resulting in heavy damages in two separate accidents.

Pennsylvania State Police report the heaviest damage resulted from a collision of two tractor-trailers at about 2:20 a. m. yesterday.

The operators were identified as Danner A. Duvall, 30, of New Windsor, Md., and Chauncey R. Coulter, 38, Evansville, Ind. Duvall's rig was damaged to the extent of $3,600, and Coulter's was estimated at $1,000.

Authorities say Duvall fell asleep while traveling west on the highway and ran his vehicle into the back of Coulter's rig. Duvall suffered a fractured right ankle in the mishap, and Coulter sustained lacerations of the hands and an abrasion of the knee.

At about 4:15 a.m. today, Thomas J. Kusnirek, 23, of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, fell asleep while driving on the turnpike about 17 miles east of Somerset. His car crashed into the back of a tractor-trailer operated by Howard C. Lloyd, 36, of Cleveland. Kusnirek suffered only minor injuries, but his car's damages were placed at about $1,000.

Pennsylvania Police said a sleepy driver also crashed his vehicle Thursday while operating on U. S. Route 30 near Breezewood.

The driver was identified as Russell M. Flanagan, 20, of Hyndman, who was delivering a truck load of coal to Washington. The truck crashed into guard rails, but did not overturn. Flanagan escaped injury, and police estimated damage to his vehicle at $1,500.

The World Building, built in the early 1900s, was considered New York's first skyscraper.

Excess Funds For County At $866,639 Mark

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday received a report from Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor, on the financial situation for the county as of the end of June, and an unexpended surplus of $866,639.15, which is subject to audit, is listed.

The books are ready for auditing, Mrs. Sills stated. The surplus is greater than had been anticipated when the tax levy and rate was set last April.

It had been estimated at that time as $846,855.93. This provides an additional sum of $20,000, but this may be reduced when payment of June bills are completed, she added.

The county balance at the end of June 1961 was $649,442.79 and revenue received up to June 30, 1962 was $5,623,671.82. Refunds during the year totaled $29,141.28. Discounts on taxes and erroneous assessments totaled $167,522.22.

Expenditures up until June 30, 1962 totaled $5,193,701.81 leaving a balance of $941,031.86. June bills will bring this balance down to the $866,639.15 figure.

The county treasurer's report was also received by the board. It listed a bank balance of $274,706.96 as of May 31, 1962.

County Urged To Change Insurance Policy Dates

Report No. 9 of Henry K. Duke, insurance consultant for the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, yesterday was approved by the board.

Duke suggested that all insurance expiration dates be changed to read July 1 instead of the present expiration dates. This plan would have a number of advantages, Duke added.

He listed insurance policies covering compensation insurance, automobile liability, general liability, automobile physical damage insurance and physical damage insurance on mobile equipment.

Duke stated these policies require audit once a year and since these have not been expiring on the same date it poses extra work and time. The July 1 is the start of the fiscal year and this auditing of the insurance forms would simplify record keeping and it would also provide the commissioners with what the actual insurance expenses had been for the year.

Duke said he would like to confer with James P. Rogers, certified public accountant, who does the audit for the county books.

Fire Destroys Playhouse At Deep Creek

The large frame building housing the Garrett County Playhouse and Sweene Boat Company at McHenry on Deep Creek Lake burned to the ground early yesterday in a spectacular fire.

All of the properties of the playhouse located on the main floor were destroyed and Gene Yell, manager, said the loss was estimated at $5,000.

Paul Sweene of the Sweene Boat Company reported that damage will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

All parts, tools and inventory in the shop were destroyed along with some boats.

The heat as the 50-foot by 100-foot building burned was so intense that boats moored at the Sweene marina 100 yards away were scorched and boat covers burned.

Sweene said, however, the company was open for business yesterday, operating from the dock.

Fire Chief Harold Schell of Oakland Volunteer Fire Department said firemen from Oakland and Accident pulled eight or nine boats out of the Sweene quarters. Some were scorched, however.

No one was injured, he said.

The fire was discovered at 6:15 a. m. by neighbors who aroused Mr. and Mrs. Sweene. The two fire companies were summoned, but upon their arrival the blaze was out of control and the building was "a ball of fire."

Fire Chief Schell said the only thing the firemen could do was to keep hosing down the ground in the vicinity of two underground gasoline storage tanks.

They were successful in keeping the full tanks from being destroyed, he added.

Yell said his troupe did their routine cleaning up of the playhouse after Thursday night's performance and the garbage was hauled to Oakland by the operator of the soft drink bar.

Last night's showing of "The Marriage Go Round" had the biggest audience in the eight years the playhouse has been showing at the lake.

Yell said 217 persons attended the performance, which was in its fourth night of the first week of the eighth season.

The building is owned by Robert and James McCann of Pittsburgh. Prior to their acquisition of it, the structure was used by the Arden Boat Club operated by Arden Mays, formerly of Cumberland.

Tonight's performance of "The Marriage Go Round" will be presented at 9 a. m. in the Dennett Road School on Dennett Road near Oakland.

The board of directors of the playhouse met yesterday and announced next week's play, "Someone Waiting," also will be staged at the school.

Drivers Hurt On Turnpike

The drivers of two vehicles on the Pennsylvania Turnpike fell asleep early yesterday resulting in heavy damages in two separate accidents.

Pennsylvania State Police report the heaviest damage resulted from a collision of two tractor-trailers at about 2:20 a. m. yesterday.

The operators were identified as Danner A. Duvall, 30, of New Windsor, Md., and Chauncey R. Coulter, 38, Evansville, Ind. Duvall's rig was damaged to the extent of $3,600, and Coulter's was estimated at $1,000.

Authorities say Duvall fell asleep while traveling west on the highway and ran his vehicle into the back of Coulter's rig. Duvall suffered a fractured right ankle in the mishap, and Coulter sustained lacerations of the hands and an abrasion of the knee.

At about 4:15 a.m. today, Thomas J. Kusnirek, 23, of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, fell asleep while driving on the turnpike about 17 miles east of Somerset. His car crashed into the back of a tractor-trailer operated by Howard C. Lloyd, 36, of Cleveland. Kusnirek suffered only minor injuries, but his car's damages were placed at about $1,000.

Pennsylvania Police said a sleepy driver also crashed his vehicle Thursday while operating on U. S. Route 30 near Breezewood.

The driver was identified as Russell M. Flanagan, 20, of Hyndman, who was delivering a truck load of coal to Washington. The truck crashed into guard rails, but did not overturn. Flanagan escaped injury, and police estimated damage to his vehicle at $1,500.

The World Building, built in the early 1900s, was considered New York's first skyscraper.

The basilica of St. Peter in Rome cost $50 million to build.

Excess Funds For County At $866,639 Mark

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday received a report from Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, county auditor, on the financial situation for the county as of the end of June, and an unexpended surplus of $866,639.15, which is subject to audit, is listed.

The books are ready for auditing, Mrs. Sills stated. The surplus is greater than had been anticipated when the tax levy and rate was set last April.

It had been estimated at that time as $846,855.93. This provides an additional sum of $20,000, but this may be reduced when payment of June bills are completed, she added.

The county balance at the end of June 1961 was $649,442.79 and revenue received up to June 30, 1962 was $5,623,671.82. Refunds during the year totaled $29,141.28. Discounts on taxes and erroneous assessments totaled $167,522.22.

Expenditures up until June 30, 1962 totaled $5,193,701.81 leaving a balance of $941,031.86. June bills will bring this balance down to the $866,639.15 figure.

Two Teen Grooming Problems And Solutions

The teen models on our staff say the two questions that follow are primary grooming factors in every teen's life. They are also important in the lives of many a matron, I might add.

Q. I am toying with the idea of cutting bangs. Should I or shouldn't I — and what are the problems involved?

A. Don't bang unless you have something to hide! Low-placed bangs are the answer for a too-wide or too-prominent forehead. Placed high on the brow, bangs add the illusion of height and width to ungenerous proportions and screen-off a ragged hairline.

Without such provocations, adopt one of the sleek, brushed-back hair-does and more distinction and beauty will be yours. In the first place, these complement the highly simplified summer fashions. From a practical angle, they are easier to manage and keep attractively groomed during warm weather activities. And they provide the slick, glossy finish that all men admire most.

Furthermore, such smooth basic arrangements permit the greatest adaptability. Just by changing your part you can achieve a different fresh look. Wear yours on the side to beat him at tennis and in the center to make him forget that you did!

Q. Scarves make me look like a peasant — but how else can I cope with my hair for school and dates on windy days?

A. Become adept in the draping of a scarf. That determines the effect you achieve. You'll avoid any peasant look if you wind into a cap or hood.

For a prettier substitute, visit the hat bar of your favorite store. Many casual caps, hoods and cloches are awaiting your selection for no more than a song.

For after dusk, entwine your lochs in veiling or netting. With short locks, tie wide veiling so the lower edge falls just above your eyebrows, swathing your tresses all around and finishing in a perky bow. This halo will never slip if you fasten it with a jeweled bobbie pin behind each ear.

Harry Delbrook Heads FB Planning Group 5

It was announced that the next meeting will be August 2, and will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Brode, Hoffman.

Harvest time makes a man think.

The bread God gives us has to be cut, threshed, shipped, baked, wrapped and delivered before it ever reaches our mouths. And long before, it had to be sowed in a ploughed field, cultivated, irrigated, and fretted over a thousand times.

Lots of work in it for man. No gift wrapping with a ribbon around it.

But don't think we could get along without God! Leave out His part and there would be no harvest — no point in all our work.

So wheat inspires worship! And every Sunday in Church reminds us that we never labor alone . . . that our labors gain fruitfulness from God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Harvest time makes a man think.

The bread God gives us has to be cut, threshed, shipped, baked, wrapped and delivered before it ever reaches our mouths. And long before, it had to be sowed in a ploughed field, cultivated, irrigated, and fretted over a thousand times.

Lots of work in it for man. No gift wrapping with a ribbon around it.

But don't think we could get along without God! Leave out His part and there would be no harvest — no point in all our work.

So wheat inspires worship! And every Sunday in Church reminds us that we never labor alone . . . that our labors gain fruitfulness from God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD.—Princess Grace called her good friend and former press agent Rupert Allen, in Hollywood, to tell him, there's not a word of truth in the story all over the Paris newspapers that she is planning to make a picture in Rome.

She believes the mistake may have started because a magnificent new villa has been bought by the government of Monaco for a new legation. This purchase itself has stirred up speculation that the villa might turn into a permanent abode for their serene highnesses should Rainier abdicate (also heatedly denied by Allen).

Denials or not, the situation in which Rainier finds himself in Monaco, in the tug of war with De Gaulle, worsens by the day.

Seeing the newspaper photos of Clara Bow, still tinged with some of the old glamor, reminded me of the handwritten messages she sends each year on Christmas cards to Louella Parsons.

For a strange and touching beginning she always starts the same, "Do you remember me?" As though Miss LOP could forget. She did the first newspaper interview Clara ever gave years ago, over chop suey at a place in New York Clara herself had picked. This was even before Clara was dubbed with the "it" title.

"Clara didn't feel at home in the exclusive restaurants," Louella told me, "She asked me if I would be ashamed to eat with her in a chop suey joint. I wasn't — because she was real, and herself."

When Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher were happy in Beverly Hills (seems like years and years ago) their favorite restaurant was Au Petit Jean. Ah, the hand-holding and champagne sipping they did while dining on breast of chicken Cleopatra, a special dish concocted for Liz by owner Jean Leon.

Recently, Leon was Elizabeth's guest at her villa in Ischia for luncheon. "Elizabeth is greatly changed. Don't believe that all that has happened has not touched her. She is hurt and bitter and suspicious of almost everyone. There is something very sad about again seeing a friend who believes in her heart she is friendless."

If ever a role was tailored to the temperament and talent of an actor, Nicky Arnstein in "The Fanny Brice Story" is right for Tony Franciosa. It's now practically solid that Tony will make his debut in the Broadway musical this fall in this production based on one of the great comediennes of her time and the fascinating husband she immortalized with "My Man."

So you didn't know Franciosa can sing? Jerome Robbins, who will stage the musical under the co-producer supervision of David Merrick and Ray Stark, has heard him and says Tony's voice will be the surprise of the new season.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Now that her marriage to Bill Black, of the Chock Full of Nuts fortune, is chock full of holes, Jean Martine is resuming her Hollywood movie career. Before the ill-fated marriage she worked in Warner TV and movies.

"It's okay to get divorced if you remarry the same woman each time," Adam West told me on the set of "Tammy and the Which means, Adam is doing all he can to woo back his ex-wife whose name is—so help me—Nga Tokaruaimapauaia!

Novelist Budd Schulberg, who has been tearing between Washington, D.C., and 20th Century-Fox conferring with Attorney General Robert Kennedy and producer Jerry Wald about his script of "The Enemy Within," says: "If I can survive this job being in the middle of these two dynamos, I can survive anything. Both forget such simple functions as eating and sleeping which I, unfortunately, dote on."

Montgomery Joins Appeal On Apportionment

Brief Filed In Court Of Appeals

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Montgomery County joined a citizen's committee Friday in appealing an Anne Arundel County Circuit Court decision which found the present makeup of the Maryland Senate constitutional.

Alfred Carter, attorney for Montgomery County, and Richard J. Sincoff, assistant county attorney, filed a brief with the Court of Appeals as a friend of court.

The state's high court will hear arguments July 23 on Judge O. Bowie Duckett's Circuit Court ruling.

Montgomery County contended, as did the Maryland Committee for Fair Representation, that the lower court erred in deciding separately the questions of whether the Senate and House were malapportioned in violation of constitutional rights.

Charges Error

"The lower court did not need to make its own political choice of which of the two houses should be reapportioned," the county contended.

"It was error for the court to decide that (the House) was unconstitutional and (the Senate) was not. This was not a law decision on the evidence of the case but a political decision as to how the court, in its opinion, believed the General Assembly should be composed."

The county contended that both houses together constituted discrimination against metropolitan voters. "The Senate composition was the more discriminatory," the county argued, "in that 76 per cent of the population has less than 21 per cent of the Senate votes."

It said the court should have found, as a matter of law, that both houses constituted invidious discrimination and left it up to the legislature to decide how the general assembly should be reapportioned to make it constitutional.

Did Not Disturb

The Circuit Court ruled earlier that the House was unconstitutional, but didn't disturb the Senate's makeup of one senator for each county or Baltimore City legislative district on grounds that one of the chambers need not reflect population.

Montgomery County also had joined the citizens committee in lower court in arguing for reapportionment as a friend of the court.

It said the possibility of fair representation in the legislature will exist only if the Court of Appeals, or a federal court, acts to invalidate the Senate makeup as well as that of the House.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The first of a series of precinct seminars will be conducted here July 21 by Ray Humphreys, director of the division of education and training of the Republican National Congressional Committee.

Small Injects S-L Subject Into Campaign

Hits Timing Of Insurance Plan

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Frank Small Jr., Republican candidate for governor, has injected the familiar subject of savings and loan associations into the November general election campaign.

Small accused the Democratic administration of pressing for operation of a new insurance program before the election.

Richard W. Case, chairman of the board setting up the fund, announced Tuesday an attempt will be made to make it effective Nov. 1. He conceded it will "require a tremendous effort."

The legislature in authorizing the fund in February had allowed until next June 1 for it to become operative.

Refers To Veto

"It can hardly be considered coincidental that the plan is scheduled to take effect five days before election day, seven months before the deadline which was originally set," Small stated Friday.

Small added he agreed the insurance should become available as soon as possible, "but I don't think very many voters will be brain washed by this political stratagem, particularly those who lost their life's savings through the governor's negligence."

Small referred to a veto by Gov. Tawes two years ago of a bill that would have regulated savings and loan associations in Maryland for the first time.

Instead, Gov. Tawes named a study commission and then pushed for enactment of its recommendations in 1961. The commission was headed by Case.

171 Have Applied

The veto had been the subject of repeated references by George P. Mahoney in his unsuccessful attempt to win the Democratic nomination from Gov. Tawes May 15.

The insurance plan authorized by the state invites associations to contribute to a fund covering accounts of members. Case reported that 171 associations with more than $141 million in accounts have applied for membership.

Associations previously had insurance available only from a federal agency and one commercial company which is facing receivership action.

Vets Advised To Convert GI Insurance

Veterans are advised to give thought to converting their GI term-insurance to ordinary insurance by F. E. Quinn, manager of Veterans Administration Regional office in Baltimore.

Mr. Quinn said most World War II veterans are close to 40, if not older, and that is the age when term insurance costs begin to rise steeply.

The annual premium on a $10,000 GI term-insurance policy, the type that three millions of the five million veterans holding GI insurance still have, rises each five years. From $90 a year at age 35, it climbs to $731 by age 70. If converted to a GI ordinary life policy, the annual premium depends on age at the time of conversion. It is generally higher at the start, but it stays the same each year thereafter.

Term insurance still is considered a temporary measure. The term policy has no cash value, no paid-up insurance value, no loan value. An ordinary life policy builds up a cash value each year, provides paid-up insurance, has a gradually increasing loan value. Ordinary life costs more per year for a young man, but for many it's cheaper in the long run. Actual cost of both types of insurance is reduced by annual dividends.

Veterans interested in converting the GI term-insurance should write or visit the VA regional office, Fayette and St. Paul Streets, Baltimore 2, Mr. Quinn said.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In answer to the question you put to the housewives of America — "How did YOU look when you went marketing today?" I would like to reply.

I looked like a sloppy, ill-groomed, over-worked housewife. And here is why: After playing chef, laundress, charwoman, chauffeur, and nurse for a family of six, I pulled a few weeds, painted the storeroom and fixed some leaky faucets. Then I started to bake a cake. I discovered I was short a few eggs, so — resplendent in grass-stained pedal-pushers, and hair in curlers, I made a quick trip to the market. Of course I ran into the minister, my son's math teacher and the president of the League of Women Voters.

Frankly, I didn't give a hoot. My husband doesn't happen to like curlers in his face at night, so I pin my hair up during the day. By the time he comes home for dinner I'm showered, brushed and lipsticked — looking lik a silverware ad in my crisp little housedress.

When he pats my freshly-scrubbed face and runs his fingers through my curly hair do you think I give a plugged nickel what the people in the market thought about my appearance three hours earlier? — ELEPHANT HIDE

DEAR ELEPHANT HIDE: Let's hope you never run into your husband when you're slopping around the neighborhood looking like a mangy dog.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am concerned about the sex life of college students. Our fourth child, now 18, will be a sophomore in college next fall. Her boy friend is attractive and intelligent. He will be a senior. They both hold campus offices.

Our other three children are college graduates. We want this girl to get her degree, too. But I learned recently that she has been sexually intimate with this young man and now I feel we should not allow her to return to college in the fall. If she became pregnant I would never forgive myself.

We have made great financial sacrifices for our children. This girl's conduct is a deep disappointment to me. Am I right to feel that since she has failed us, we should not allow her the privilege of a higher education? Please give some badly needed counsel to a —LET DOWN MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I can understand your deep disappointment, but you're on the wrong track. Refusing to send your daughter back to college would be purely punitive and would serve no useful purpose. A girl so punished might retailiate by becoming promiscuous. I suggest that you have a frank talk with her. Scolding and recriminations will do no good. Explain that sex outside of marriage is dangerous, foolish and short-sighted, and that she is playing with dynamite.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently I went to a funeral home to pay my last respects to a friend and neighbor. I was shocked to see the children of the deceased chatting nonchalantly and taking pictures with flash-bulb cameras. The oldest son had a movie camera. They took pictures of their mother beside the casket. Then they took shots of the floral offerings and candids of the people as they entered the funeral home.

The final straw was when one of the girls took a picture of her father as he lay in the casket.

I could contain myself no longer so I asked her what she was doing. She said they wanted to send pictures to relatives out of state who could not attend the funeral.

I was appalled. Tell me, please, am I being unduly critical? If so, I will change my way of thinking—WILLING TO LISTEN

DEAR WILLING: Cameras and flash bulbs have no place at a funeral home. Of course it is the prerogative of the family to do as they wish, but in my opinion such goings-on are in abominable taste.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD.—Princess Grace called her good friend and former press agent Rupert Allen, in Hollywood, to tell him there's not a word of truth in the story all over the Paris newspapers that she is planning to make a picture in Rome.

She believes the mistake may have started because a magnificent new villa has been bought by the government of Monaco for a new legation. This purchase itself has stirred up speculation that the villa might turn into a permanent abode for their serene highnesses should Rainier abdicate (also heatedly denied by Allen).

Denials or not, the situation in which Rainier finds himself in Monaco, in the tug of war with De Gaulle, worsens by the day.

Seeing the newspaper photos of Clara Bow, still tinged with some of the old glamor, reminded me of the handwritten messages she sends each year on Christmas cards to Louella Parsons.

For a strange and touching beginning she always starts the same, "Do you remember me?" As though Miss LOP could forget. She did the first newspaper interview Clara ever gave years ago, over chop suey at a place in New York Clara herself had picked. This was even before Clara was dubbed with the "it" title.

"Clara didn't feel at home in the exclusive restaurants," Louella told me, "She asked me if I would be ashamed to eat with her in a chop suey joint. I wasn't — because she was real, and herself."

When Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher were happy in Beverly Hills (seems like years and years ago) their favorite restaurant was Au Petit Jean. Ah, the hand-holding and champagne sipping they did while dining on breast of chicken Cleopatra, a special dish concocted for Liz by owner Jean Leon.

Recently, Leon was Elizabeth's guest at her villa in Ischia for luncheon. "Elizabeth is greatly changed. Don't believe that all that has happened has not touched her. She is hurt and bitter and suspicious of almost everyone. There is something very sad about again seeing a friend who believes in her heart she is friendless."

If ever a role was tailored to the temperament and talent of an actor, Nicky Arnstein in "The Fanny Brice Story" is right for Tony Franciosa. It's now practically solid that Tony will make his debut in the Broadway musical this fall in this production based on one of the great comediennes of her time and the fascinating husband she immortalized with "My Man."

So you didn't know Franciosa can sing? Jerome Robbins, who will stage the musical under the co-producer supervision of David Merrick and Ray Stark, has heard him and says Tony's voice will be the surprise of the new season.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Now that her marriage to Bill Black, of the Chock Full of Nuts fortune, is chock full of holes, Jean Martine is resuming her Hollywood movie career. Before the ill-fated marriage she worked in Warner TV and movies.

"It's okay to get divorced if you remarry the same woman each time," Adam West told me on the set of "Tammy and the Which means, Adam is doing all he can to woo back his ex-wife whose name is—so help me—Nga Tokaruaimapauaia!

Novelist Budd Schulberg, who has been tearing between Washington, D.C., and 20th Century-Fox conferring with Attorney General Robert Kennedy and producer Jerry Wald about his script of "The Enemy Within," says: "If I can survive this job being in the middle of these two dynamos, I can survive anything. Both forget such simple functions as eating and sleeping which I, unfortunately, dote on."

Montgomery Joins Appeal On Apportionment

Brief Filed In Court Of Appeals

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Montgomery County joined a citizen's committee Friday in appealing an Anne Arundel County Circuit Court decision which found the present makeup of the Maryland Senate constitutional.

Alfred Carter, attorney for Montgomery County, and Richard J. Sincoff, assistant county attorney, filed a brief with the Court of Appeals as a friend of court.

The state's high court will hear arguments July 23 on Judge O. Bowie Duckett's Circuit Court ruling.

Montgomery County contended, as did the Maryland Committee for Fair Representation, that the lower court erred in deciding separately the questions of whether the Senate and House were malapportioned in violation of constitutional rights.

Charges Error

"The lower court did not need to make its own political choice of which of the two houses should be reapportioned," the county contended.

"It was error for the court to decide that (the House) was unconstitutional and (the Senate) was not. This was not a law decision on the evidence of the case but a political decision as to how the court, in its opinion, believed the General Assembly should be composed."

The county contended that both houses together constituted discrimination against metropolitan voters. "The Senate composition was the more discriminatory," the county argued, "in that 76 per cent of the population has less than 21 per cent of the Senate votes."

It said the court should have found, as a matter of law, that both houses constituted invidious discrimination and left it up to the legislature to decide how the general assembly should be reapportioned to make it constitutional.

Did Not Disturb

The Circuit Court ruled earlier that the House was unconstitutional, but didn't disturb the Senate's makeup of one senator for each county or Baltimore City legislative district on grounds that one of the chambers need not reflect population.

Montgomery County also had joined the citizens committee in lower court in arguing for reapportionment as a friend of the court.

It said the possibility of fair representation in the legislature will exist only if the Court of Appeals, or a federal court, acts to invalidate the Senate makeup as well as that of the House.

GOP Seminar Series Planned

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The first of a series of precinct seminars will be conducted here July 21 by Ray Humphreys, director of the division of education and training of the Republican National Congressional Committee.

Meetings will be held in each of the state's five congressional districts. The gatherings here will be for about 300 Republicans invited from Kanawha and Clay Counties. Another meeting will be held elsewhere in the district Aug. 18 for Republicans in the other three counties, Raleigh, Boone and Nicholas.

Chairman John L. Thomas of the 3rd Congressional District said the purpose of the seminars will be to train "sales managers" for every precinct in the district.

"Their job, in turn, will be to recruit salesmen to tell the Republican story in every home in the precinct," Thomas said.

Small Injects S-L Subject Into Campaign

Hits Timing Of Insurance Plan

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — Frank Small Jr., Republican candidate for governor, has injected the familiar subject of savings and loan associations into the November general election campaign.

Small accused the Democratic administration of pressing for operation of a new insurance program before the election.

Richard W. Case, chairman of the board setting up the fund, announced Tuesday an attempt will be made to make it effective Nov. 1. He conceded it will "require a tremendous effort."

The legislature in authorizing the fund in February had allowed until next June 1 for it to become operative.

Refers To Veto

"It can hardly be considered coincidental that the plan is scheduled to take effect five days before election day, seven months before the deadline which was originally set," Small stated Friday.

Small added he agreed the insurance should become available as soon as possible, "but I don't think very many voters will be brain washed by this political stratagem, particularly those who lost their life's savings through the governor's negligence."

Small referred to a veto by Gov. Tawes two years ago of a bill that would have regulated savings and loan associations in Maryland for the first time.

Instead, Gov. Tawes named a study commission and then pushed for enactment of its recommendations in 1961. The commission was headed by Case.

171 Have Applied

The veto had been the subject of repeated references by George P. Mahoney in his unsuccessful attempt to win the Democratic nomination from Gov. Tawes May 15.

The insurance plan authorized by the state invites associations to contribute to a fund covering accounts of members. Case reported that 171 associations with more than $141 million in accounts have applied for membership.

Associations previously had insurance available only from a federal agency and one commercial company which is facing receivership action.

Liquor License Application Filed

An application for a Class D beer, wine and liquor license for premises at 25 North Mechanic Street, formerly occupied by the Cadillac, has been filed with the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverages License Commissioners.

Seeking the license are Henry F. Frederick, Charles W. Rhind and Celestine Rhind in behalf of 25 Mechanic Street Inc. Mr. Frederick submitted a bid for the Cadillac premises July 5 of $10,500 and the following day Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey signed the order approving the sale. The Cadillac was placed in receivership in May.

Vets Advised To Convert GI Insurance

Veterans are advised to give thought to converting their GI term-insurance to ordinary insurance by F. E. Quinn, manager of Veterans Administration Regional office in Baltimore.

Mr. Quinn said most World War II veterans are close to 40, if not older, and that is the age when term insurance costs begin to rise steeply.

The annual premium on a $10,000 GI term-insurance policy, the type that three millions of the five million veterans holding GI insurance still have, rises each five years. From $90 a year at age 35, it climbs to $731 by age 70. If converted to a GI ordinary life policy, the annual premium depends on age at the time of conversion. It is generally higher at the start, but it stays the same each year thereafter.

Term insurance still is considered a temporary measure. The term policy has no cash value, no paid-up insurance value, no loan value. An ordinary life policy builds up a cash value each year, provides paid-up insurance, has a gradually increasing loan value. Ordinary life costs more per year for a young man, but for many it's cheaper in the long run. Actual cost of both types of insurance is reduced by annual dividends.

Veterans interested in converting the GI term-insurance should write or visit the VA regional office, Fayette and St. Paul Streets, Baltimore 2, Mr. Quinn said.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In answer to the question you put to the housewives of America — "How did YOU look when you went marketing today?" I would like to reply.

I looked like a sloppy, ill-groomed, over-worked housewife. And here is why: After playing chef, laundress, charwoman, chauffeur, and nurse for a family of six, I pulled a few weeds, painted the storeroom and fixed some leaky faucets. Then I started to bake a cake. I discovered I was short a few eggs, so — resplendent in grass-stained pedal-pushers, and hair in curlers, I made a quick trip to the market. Of course I ran into the minister, my son's math teacher and the president of the League of Women Voters.

Frankly, I didn't give a hoot. My husband doesn't happen to like curlers in his face at night, so I pin my hair up during the day. By the time he comes home for dinner I'm showered, brushed and lipsticked — looking lik a silverware ad in my crisp little housedress.

When he pats my freshly-scrubbed face and runs his fingers through my curly hair do you think I give a plugged nickel what the people in the market thought about my appearance three hours earlier? — ELEPHANT HIDE

Promising Baby Of The Family

Don't let the pause in Hawaii's economic boom mislead, a bank economist from that young island state advises. Ahead is a promising future as the U. S. portal to the Pacific, he predicts.

Allowing for the usual generous measure of local pride and the public show of confidence a banker's role demands, Hawaii does indeed appear to have a bright era ahead. Although building has dropped and pineapple production is down, manufacturing is holding even at the rate of $163 million a year and tourism is up from $137 million last year to $156 million this year.

And as though to assure Hawaii that she's really one of the family now, the federal government is pouring $535 million into the state's economy.

But the bright future that banker James H. Shoemaker foresees hinges not on handouts from Washington, but on the state's geographic location. Pacific sea and air traffic is touching there in increasing volume and it is logical that Hawaii become a major communications center.

As a test market for foreign products and outpost for technical services and technical training, the yen, pound and peso should soon flow into Hawaii's economic stream.

Naturally Hawaii, like her fellow states, will share the ups and downs of the country's general economy. But it's always pleasant to contemplate the prospect that someday the baby of the family may become self-supporting. And, as they say, the sooner the better.

Saskatchewan

The strike of the doctors in Saskatchewan is the direct result of the effort of a Socialist government to reduce a profession to a trade, professional men to a proletariat. If the individuality of the professional man is to be reduced to the unprofessional position of the unskilled hourly worker, then the professional man is entitled to strike as the hourly worker is entitled to strike. From this standpoint the situation is altogether clear and the strike is justified.

On the other hand, no matter what socialist politicians try to do, a physician and a surgeon are indispensable. Without them life can come into existence and death can destroy life. But were epidemics of polio, meningitis, cholera or other frightful illnesses to break out, Saskatchewan would become a pest-hole and a danger to all Canada and to the United States. It would have to be quarantined.

In the complicated world in which we live, it is impossible to be without physicians and surgeons. There are, of course, religious groups, such as the Christian Scientists, who do not acknowledge the enormous achievements of modern medicine but the statistics clearly prove an increase in longevity and in spite of the practice of birth control, by one means or another, population is on the increase.

In Saskatchewan, the strike of the doctors may be the first in human history. The professional man must endure a long period of preparation. He cannot learn his art or science by reading a book of instructions. He requires a very thorough training over a period of between seven and ten years, depending upon whether he specializes. He is not a mere technician. To be of value, he must have the patience of a saint, the delicacy of a good mother and the ruthlessness of a tyrant.

Such a man cannot be regarded as an hourly laborer. The socialist might ask, "Why is he any better than anyone else?" The answer is that he has done so much work in preparation for the one moment when there is no alternative but death.

The other night, I saw one of those old Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore, "Dr. Kildare" pictures. All through the movie ran the theme, "What would have happened to the girl if Dr. Kildare had not risked himself and his entire professional career to help her?" And one felt that the alternative was death.

For many years I lived in China. Each Spring when the crab season appeared, thousands died of dysentery. When the watermelon appeared, thousands died of cholera. One day, I was riding in a rickshaw and after a while, I saw the coolie's face. The devil had the smallpox. I went to a doctor and got myself vaccinated all over again. It was nothing to spend miserable days in a hospital with a frightful dysentery. Children died during the Summer of ailments utterly forgotten in this country. Tuberculosis was so usual that I saw men rise from the dinner table to "spit blood."

I learned to have a very healthy respect for the medical profession in those days. A little friend of mine had a very bad case of what her parents called measles. They called in several native Chinese doctors, each one of whom had a private medicine that had been in his family a long time. Each one of these men was jealous of the other. So the head of the household called in a necromancer who did some magic over the various medicines; finally he selected one. The child died.

The quarrel in Saskatchewan goes deeper than how much is a doctor to charge for his services. The medical profession rejects nationalization. I often see articles complaining about what doctors charge. I do not hear of these writers giving their services for nothing. Nor do I hear them proposing, as they grow better known, that their pay be reduced. It is amazing how a man will go to a night club and pay whatever he is charged, even if the date is counted in, but the same man will appreciate legal services for nothing and he pays the doctor only after protest.

My sympathy is with the Saskatchewan doctors who are fighting a battle for all the professional men in this era of mobocracy. A private opinion about a mastoid or a peptic ulcer could do infinite damage, even if carried by a majority.

Hard To Beat Him

Food For China: The Moral Balance Sheet

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The latest information about the recent, major redeployment of the Chinese Communist army completes a strikingly interesting and telling pattern.

In the first phase, large numbers of additional troops were moved into the areas along the Formosa Strait from which an attack on the Nationalist-garrisoned offshore islands might be launched. The question promptly arose whether the intention was offensive, or whether this was really a defensive movement, caused by Chiang Kai-shek's frequent public threats to attempt a landing on the mainland this year.

Now, however, additional troops have been moved into a much larger area, extending from northeast Kwangtung province, up the coast to the northern part of Fukien province. The inland boundary of the reinforced area is a rough arc. And this arc in turn bounds the area within which it would be practical for Chiang Kai-shek to give air cover to a force being parachuted into China.

One must always keep one's fingers crossed in such cases. But the new evidence makes the redeployment of the Communist army appear even more strictly defensive than was at first supposed. Apparently this huge and costly troop movement has really been undertaken because the Peking leaders are afraid—afraid of a landing by Chiang, but even more afraid of their own people, and maybe even afraid of some units of their own army, without whose help no Nationalist landing could succeed.

The Peking leaders do well to be afraid. If this year's Chinese harvest is as bad as the last three, which now seems quite possible, China will be almost in the position of the Soviet Union in 1921.

In 1920, the tax collectors of the new Soviet Communist state had even seized the seed grain of the Russian peasantry. In 1921, the weather was also unkind. Famine stalked the whole Russian land. And the Soviet commissars were driven to appeal for help to the capitalist world, through Maxim Gorky, the great writer.

Herbert Hoover and his America Relief Organization responded to the appeal. They worked in the Soviet Union for over two years. In the end, they got official credit from the Kremlin for saving no less than many millions of Russian lives. The wiser students of Soviet history also credit Herbert Hoover and his American grain with saving the Russian revolution; for the entire structure of Soviet Communism was falling apart under the present strain of hunger when Hoover came to the rescue.

It is exasperating, nowadays, to recall this long forgotten exercise in misplaced humanitarianism. For imagine the consequences if Hoover had not hurried to the rescue.

The 17,000,000 persons massacred by Josef Stalin in the ten years between 1929 and 1939 would not have been massacred. The countless millions of others who languished and died in the Soviet labor camps would have been saved. Poland, Hungary, and the rest of Eastern Europe would not be in chains. China might be a free, rather than a slave, state. Russia too would have built her national power on a less ugly foundation.

Though exasperating, however, it is needful nowadays to recall Hoover's rescue mission, for two excellent reasons. On the one hand, some leading officials of the Kennedy administration lean towards sending a similar food mission to Communist China, if the Peking leadership asks for it. Indeed, as shown in the last report in this space, the government is in a measure publicly committed to do just this.

On the other hand, it is silly to suppose that we can make this kind of quasi-commitment with complete safety, looking generous before the world with no risk of having to meet our commitment.

If worst comes to worst in Peking, as it may well do this autumn if the harvest is bad, the Chinese Communist leaders are perfectly capable of following the example that Lenin set in 1921. Lenin swallowed his pride and controlled his hostile suspicions under dire pressure of necessity. So may Mao Tse-tung. Lenin allowed U. S. supervision of Hoover's grain distribution. So may Mao Tse-tung.

Hence the quite likely prospect of another bad harvest in already-starving China demands an immediate new look at this half-or-three-quarters committed posture the government has partly accidentally got itself into. The moral balance sheet needs casting up.

Last time, millions of lives were saved; everyone involved felt big and generous and humane; but Soviet Communism was saved too, with incalculably evil results. The lives immediately saved weigh very light in the balance, in fact, against the lives subsequently lost, or warped, or spent in darkness because the Soviet Communist system was saved.

Do we really want to do the same thing all over again, when there will be a better than even chance of the entire structure of Chinese communism falling apart if we hold our hands? For if the food request is made, it will only be made because the odds have turned heavily against Mao, and because Mao understands the odds.

Inside Washington

DRINKING STUDY—The Mental Health Division of the National Institute of Health has awarded George Washington University a $161,073 grant for a special research project on "The Significance of Drinking in the American Culture."

Selecting George Washington University to make the study is particularly appropriate, in the minds of many, because the capital with its endless round of cocktail parties is said to have the highest per capita consumption of alcoholic beverages of any city in the United States.

A professor from California is being imported to conduct the study—probably on the theory that he can see significance in things that cocktail-going natives might consider socially routine.

We don't pretend to know what the study will find, but we've long had a pet theory that Washington party-goers were not alcoholics or lushes, but drank simply to fortify themselves to withstand the boring small-talk they inflict on each other.

DIAL DIFFICULTY — Rep. James C. Wright, D-Tex., says he recently gave his congressional telephone number to an out-of-town friend and asked him to call. Wright waited for several days, but never got the call. He ran across the friend shortly thereafter and asked him why he hadn't made the call, telling him again that the number was Capitol 4-3121.

"Sorry," the friend replied sheepishly, "but I never could figure out how to dial a capital 4."

Wright tells the story in good spirits and insists it actually happened. But he likewise insists that the friend was not one of his constituents.

Doctors Put Up Campaign Fund For Congressman To Obstruct Medicare

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — One claim by the American Medical Association's lobbyists against medical care for the aged is that elderly people always get treatment under the present system and that no doctor ever turns down a needy patient.

In Lexington, Ky., wealthy center of the blue grass region and the horse-racing capital of the world, doctors are working hard—and with success—to get Rep. Watts, a key Democrat on the Ways and Means Committee, to block the medical aid bill inside his committee. One of the doctors in this drive is Dr. Harold C. Haines Jr. He has been writing letters to raise money for Rep. Watts, but the other day also found time to write this letter to a patient, Mrs. Hattie Baker, aged 78 and destitute, who had been unable to pay her doctor's bill.

"I regret to inform you," said Dr. Haynes, "that until your outstanding account has been taken care of, I will no longer be able to render you medical care. I am sincerely sorry that it has become necessary to take this step, but I feel certain that you understand the situation in which I am placed."

Mrs. Baker had suffered a recent stroke and was in the hospital four days, which was as long as the hospital would keep her without pay. She is a widow, gets $57 a month, pays $50 a month rent, which leaves her $7 a month for food and medicine. She is supposed to be on Digitalis and Dilantin.

"But," she says, "I can't afford to buy the medicine, for I don't even get enough to eat."

Called Five Doctors

Having refused the old lady private care, Dr. Haynes was working against a bill which would give her government care.

When Dr. Haynes was querried by my associate, Jack Anderson, as to why he had cut off Mrs. Baker, despite the AMA's argument that they never turned down a needy patient, he replied:

"I took this drastic action in order to force her to go to a clinic."

A clinic, of course, is one of the things the government would finance under the medical care bill.

"I understand you have been instrumental in raising money for Congressman Watts' campaign," Anderson asked Dr. Haynes.

"I don't know what you mean by instrumental," Dr. Haynes replied. "I only called five doctors."

"Then who was instrumental?" Anderson asked.

"Dr. Shepard. He has been the leader of the campaign."

Dr. Haynes admitted that he had raised and contributed money for Watts, but would not say how much.

Who's Telling The Truth?

This was highly interesting because Anderson had earlier called Congressman Watts and asked him whether he had received any campaign contributions from the doctors.

"Nothing at all," was the Congressman's reply.

Sometimes a candidate does not know who is contributing to his campaign, so Anderson called Harry Blanton of Paris, Ky., the Congressman's campaign treasurer. He denied flatly that any doctrs had contributed. He also refused to divulge the names of any contributors or the amounts they had contributed.

Under the Corrupt Practices Act, every Congressman is required to file a statement with the clerk of the House of Representatives regarding every political contribution.

Just to make doubly sure that the doctors were responsible for putting money into Watts' campaign — despite his emphatic denial — Anderson called Dr. R. D. Shepard of Lexington who, according to Dr. Haynes, was more instrumental than he in waging the campaign.

"I understand you are in charge of the campaign to raise funds for Congressman Watts?" Anderson asked Dr. Shepard.

"I have no information to give to the press," was the stiff reply.

"Why not?" asked Anderson, having in mind the Corrupt Practices Act which provides for full publicity.

"You will have to get your information from the political action committee," Dr. Shepard replied.

He referred to the American Medicine for Political Action Committee, which has been patterned after the AFL-CIO Political Action Committee — officially not married but living together out of wedlock.

The political action committee, in turn, referred Anderson to Dr. George P. Archer of Prestonburg, Ky., who admitted that he had encouraged Dr. Shepard to raise money for Watts.

"How much did you raise?" Anderson asked.

"I don't know," replied Dr. Archer "we did it through the chain letter system."

This is the story of what the doctors have done to influence one key Congressman on the Ways and Means Committee in order to prevent a vote by the full House of Representatives. The inside story of how they have switched another key vote in order to bottle up medicare will follow in an early column.

Meanwhile, 78-year-old Mrs. Hattie Baker remains without medical care or money to buy medicine on her $57 a month.

How To Prevent War

By Leo Szilard

(While John Crosby is on vacation, his column will be written by guests. Today's contributor is Dr. Leo Szilard, atomic physicist.)

Under the last two Presidents, and so far also under the Kennedy administration, the United States has steadily followed the line of least resistance. The United States followed this line when she dropped the Bomb on Hiroshima and she is following this line at the present time. In 1945 Japan was suing for peace, but it was easier to stick to the demand of "unconditional surrender" and to drop the Bomb, than to arrive at a decision—jointly with our allies—on the peace terms to be offered to Japan. At the present time it is easier to keep on building long-range solid fuel rockets, as fast as they can be produced, than to propose an agreement on arms limitation that Russia could accept. And if we keep following this line of least resistance, we may reach, within a few years, a point of no return in an all-out arms race.

With President Kennedy, a number of able men moved into the Administration who are deeply concerned, but so far they have not been able to integrate their collective wisdom and to deflect the seemingly inexorable course of events. I personally find myself in rebellion against the fate that history seems to have in store for us and it appears that there are many others who are equally rebellious. Even though they are in the minority, still this minority could take effective political action, provided they are able to agree on the specific political objectives that must be pursued in order to halt our drifting towards war, and provided they are willing to compensate for their numerical inferiority by making substantial campaign contributions to Congressional candidates—about 2 per cent of their income annually. The contributions of 100,000 such people, having an average income of $7,500, would amount to $15 million per year.

Two interrelated political committees would have to operate in Washington: the Lobby for Abolishing War and the Council for Abolishing War. It would be the function of the Lobby to advise the people where their contributions ought to go in order to bring about a change in Congressional attitudes that would encourage the Administration to pursue truly constructive policies. The Lobby would support those now in Congress who are deeply concerned about our drifting towards war. More importantly, the Lobby would strive to find able men and women, similarly concerned, who could get elected to Congress if they received the nomination of their party. It would be the task of the Lobby to persuade them to seek the nomination, and to help them get the nomination, by assuring them of adequate campaign funds in advance. It would be the task of the Council to bring to Washington from time to time scientists, scholars, and other public-spirited citizens who could help members of the Administration and Congress clarify their minds on the complex issues which have to be resolved if peace is to be established on a reliable basis.

Starting at the Harvard Law School Forum last November and ending at the University of Oregon in January, I spoke at eight universities and colleges across the country. In each place I spoke before large student audiences and I asked the students to help me determine whether a political movement of this sort could get off the ground. The students distributed mimeographed copies of my speech among their elders in their home communities, and to date I have received about 2,500 letters from persons pledging 2 per cent of their income. In view of this response the Lobby and the Council were set up on June 2, in Washington, D. C. The political objectives which the Council may be expected to pursue in the months to come have been outlined in my speech; reprints are now obtainable at 935 East 60th Street in Chicago from the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists.

Don't Blame Basement For Aches And Pains

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

An Elmhurst, Ill., woman has a point. She writes, "Most folks over 50 firmly believe the play hours in the basement rooms are a direct cause of muscular aches, rheumatism, arthritis, colds, cramps, and varicose veins. These rooms usually are 4 to 8 feet below ground level, the walls are painted or paneled, and the floors are made of tile or cement.

"Additional heat is supplied by a fireplace or room heater. Are these claims about aches and pains old time fears or will a basement recreation room ruin the health of the house owner eventually?"

I assume our reader is concerned about dampness, the hard floors, and the temperature. Standing too long on a hard floor may aggravate varicose veins but won't cause them; the fault lies in an inherent weakness of the vein wall.

So far as colds are concerned, these infections are caught from others and are not acquired by working in a basement rumpus room. Dampness may aggravate rheumatism and arthritis but the wear and tear of 50 or more years of using our joints is a more logical culprit.

But there is more to this story. Older persons, especially those who lead a sedentary existence, who work hard in the basement workshop, are likely to suffer from muscular cramps that evening or aching the next day. Standing on a hard floor for hours in wornout shoes strains the arches, whereas working in a stooped position plays havoc with the back. Sitting for long periods, watching TV or playing cards, also strains the lower back and affects circulation to the lower extremities.

Dust and cigaret smoke irritate the throat of some persons. The same can be said of molds found so often in old buildings. In addition, faulty gas appliances may give off carbon monoxide; they should be tested regularly.

Let's sum it up by saying it is not the basement but the age and activity that counts. Dehumidifiers and exhaust fans correct most of the unpleasant aspects of basement quarters.

SKIN FUNGUS

K. P. writes: What is meant by monilial intertrigo? My very old medical book doesn't mention it.

REPLY

Intertrigo is a form of chapping and monilia refers to a fungus. One form of monilial intertrigo occurs on the webs between the fingers in housewives, bartenders, and others who keep their hands in water a good part of the day or evening.

DUPLEX GALL BLADDERS

V. P. writes: Did you ever hear of anyone with two gall bladders?

REPLY

A double gall bladder is uncommon in man; it is said to occur once in 4,000 cases. Only 101 cases have been reported so far. The duplication is more frequent in animals: 1 in 8 in cats, 1 in 28 in calves, and 1 in 298 in swine.

SINUSES ARE SPACE

B. H. writes: Do the sinus glands serve any worthwhile purpose?

REPLY

There are no sinus glands and let's be thankful, because our sinusses and our glands cause enough trouble. The sinuses that connect with the nose are hollow space in the bones of the face and skull.

REPOSITORY TREATMENT

A. C. L. writes: Is this a good time to take the 3 shot series for hay fever?

REPLY

July is the best time for the repository treatment against ragweed. As a rule, this type of immunization is given 6 weeks before the season begins.

PREVENT DEFORMITIES

F. B. writes: Is inflammatory rheumatism a crippling disease?

REPLY

It can be, when neglected. Prompt treatment, followed by physical therapy, will minimize deformities.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

In a sleepy little town the two passenger trains of the day were met faithfully by an antique buggy, driven by a bewhiskered octogenarian, and hitched to a pair of spavined nags who looked even older.

One day a travelling salesman actually got off the morning train, climbed into the hack and ordered, "Drive me to the main hotel." In due course he was deposited in front of the hotel (the only one in a radius of 35 miles) and pulled out his wallet. The smallest bill he could find was a five-spot, and this he handed to the old driver. The old man studied the bill for several minutes, then declared, "It's a deal, mister. The horses and buggy are yours!"

John Fischer, erudite editor of Harper's, spotted a beloved child perched precariously on the peaked roof of a barn and asked her what she was doing there. "Her answer," says Fischer, "covered the situation like a horse blanket." She called down, "I'm trying not to fall off."

"I'll tell you how old I really am," confided Jack Benny recently to an acquaintance. "I was born in the decade when it still was possible to tell the difference between a bathing beach and a nudist colony."

Doctors Put Up Campaign Fund For Congressman To Obstruct Medicare

Who's Telling The Truth?

This was highly interesting because Anderson had earlier called Congressman Watts and asked him whether he had received any campaign contributions from the doctors.

"Nothing at all," was the Congressman's reply.

Sometimes a candidate does not know who is contributing to his campaign, so Anderson called Harry Blanton of Paris, Ky., the Congressman's campaign treasurer. He denied flatly that any doctrs had contributed. He also refused to divulge the names of any contributors or the amounts they had contributed.

Under the Corrupt Practices Act, every Congressman is required to file a statement with the clerk of the House of Representatives regarding every political contribution.

Just to make doubly sure that the doctors were responsible for putting money into Watts' campaign — despite his emphatic denial — Anderson called Dr. R. D. Shepard of Lexington who, according to Dr. Haynes, was more instrumental than he in waging the campaign.

"I understand you are in charge of the campaign to raise funds for Congressman Watts?" Anderson asked Dr. Shepard.

"I have no information to give to the press," was the stiff reply.

"Why not?" asked Anderson, having in mind the Corrupt Practices Act which provides for full publicity.

"You will have to get your information from the political action committee," Dr. Shepard replied.

He referred to the American Medicine for Political Action Committee, which has been patterned after the AFL-CIO Political Action Committee — officially not married but living together out of wedlock.

The political action committee, in turn, referred Anderson to Dr. George P. Archer of Prestonburg, Ky., who admitted that he had encouraged Dr. Shepard to raise money for Watts.

"How much did you raise?" Anderson asked.

"I don't know," replied Dr. Archer "we did it through the chain letter system."

This is the story of what the doctors have done to influence one key Congressman on the Ways and Means Committee in order to prevent a vote by the full House of Representatives. The inside story of how they have switched another key vote in order to bottle up medicare will follow in an early column.

Meanwhile, 78-year-old Mrs. Hattie Baker remains without medical care or money to buy medicine on her $57 a month.

Food For China: The Moral Balance Sheet

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

The latest information about the recent, major redeployment of the Chinese Communist army completes a strikingly interesting and telling pattern.

In the first phase, large numbers of additional troops were moved into the areas along the Formosa Strait from which an attack on the Nationalist-garrisoned offshore islands might be launched. The question promptly arose whether the intention was offensive, or whether this was really a defensive movement, caused by Chiang Kai-shek's frequent public threats to attempt a landing on the mainland this year.

Now, however, additional troops have been moved into a much larger area, extending from northeast Kwangtung province, up the coast to the northern part of Fukien province. The inland boundary of the reinforced area is a rough arc. And this arc in turn bounds the area within which it would be practical for Chiang Kai-shek to give air cover to a force being parachuted into China.

One must always keep one's fingers crossed in such cases. But the new evidence makes the redeployment of the Communist army appear even more strictly defensive than was at first supposed. Apparently this huge and costly troop movement has really been undertaken because the Peking leaders are afraid—afraid of a landing by Chiang, but even more afraid of their own people, and maybe even afraid of some units of their own army, without whose help no Nationalist landing could succeed.

The Peking leaders do well to be afraid. If this year's Chinese harvest is as bad as the last three, which now seems quite possible, China will be almost in the position of the Soviet Union in 1921.

In 1920, the tax collectors of the new Soviet Communist state had even seized the seed grain of the Russian peasantry. In 1921, the weather was also unkind. Famine stalked the whole Russian land. And the Soviet commissars were driven to appeal for help to the capitalist world, through Maxim Gorky, the great writer.

Herbert Hoover and his America Relief Organization responded to the appeal. They worked in the Soviet Union for over two years. In the end, they got official credit from the Kremlin for saving no less than many millions of Russian lives. The wiser students of Soviet history also credit Herbert Hoover and his American grain with saving the Russian revolution; for the entire structure of Soviet Communism was falling apart under the strain of hunger when Hoover came to the rescue.

It is exasperating, nowadays, to recall this long forgotten exercise in misplaced humanitarianism. For imagine the consequences if Hoover had not hurried to the rescue.

The 17,000,000 persons massacred by Josef Stalin in the ten years between 1929 and 1939 would not have been massacred. The countless millions of others who languished and died in the Soviet labor camps would have been saved. Poland, Hungary, and the rest of Eastern Europe would not be in chains. China might be a free, rather than a slave, state. Russia too would have built her national power on a less ugly foundation.

Though exasperating, however, it is needful nowadays to recall Hoover's rescue mission, for two excellent reasons. On the one hand, some leading officials of the Kennedy administration lean towards sending a similar food mission to Communist China, if the Peking leadership asks for it. Indeed, as shown in the last report in this space, the government is in a measure publicly committed to do just this.

On the other hand, it is silly to suppose that we can make this kind of quasi-commitment with complete safety, looking generous before the world with no risk of having to meet our commitment.

If worst comes to worst in Peking, as it may well do this autumn if the harvest is bad, the Chinese Communist leaders are perfectly capable of following the example that Lenin set in 1921. Lenin swallowed his pride and controlled his hostile suspicions under dire pressure of necessity. So may Mao Tse-tung. Lenin allowed U. S. supervision of Hoover's grain distribution. So may Mao Tse-tung.

Hence the quite likely prospect of another bad harvest in already-starving China demands an immediate new look at this half-or-three-quarters committed posture the government has partly accidentally got itself into. The moral balance sheet needs casting up.

Last time, millions of lives were saved; everyone involved felt big and generous and humane; but Soviet Communism was saved too, with incalculably evil results. The lives immediately saved weigh very light in the balance, in fact, against the lives subsequently lost, or warped, or spent in darkness because the Soviet Communist system was saved.

Do we really want to do the same thing all over again, when there will be a better than even chance of the entire structure of Chinese communism falling apart if we hold our hands? For if the food request is made, it will only be made because the odds have turned heavily against Mao, and because Mao understands the odds.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

DRINKING STUDY—The Mental Health Division of the National Institute of Health has awarded George Washington University a $161,073 grant for a special research project on "The Significance of Drinking in the American Culture."

Selecting George Washington University to make the study is particularly appropriate, in the minds of many, because the capital with its endless round of cocktail parties is said to have the highest per capita consumption of alcoholic beverages of any city in the United States.

A professor from California is being imported to conduct the study—probably on the theory that he can see significance in things that cocktail-going natives might consider socially routine.

We don't pretend to know what the study will find, but we've long had a pet theory that Washington party-goers were not alcoholics or lushes, but drank simply to fortify themselves to withstand the boring small-talk they inflict on each other.

DIAL DIFFICULTY — Rep. James C. Wright, D-Tex., says he recently gave his congressional telephone number to an out-of-town friend and asked him to call. Wright waited for several days, but never got the call. He ran across the friend shortly thereafter and asked him why he hadn't made the call, telling him again that the number was Capitol 4-3121.

"Sorry," the friend replied sheepishly, "but I never could figure out how to dial a capital 4."

Wright tells the story in good spirits and insists it actually happened. But he likewise insists that the friend was not one of his constituents.

How To Prevent War

By Leo Szilard

(While John Crosby is on vacation, his column will be written by guests. Today's contributor is Dr. Leo Szilard, atomic physicist.)

Under the last two Presidents, and so far also under the Kennedy administration, the United States has steadily followed the line of least resistance. The United States followed this line when she dropped the Bomb on Hiroshima and she is following this line at the present time. In 1945 Japan was suing for peace, but it was easier to stick to the demand of "unconditional surrender" and to drop the Bomb, than to arrive at a decision—jointly with our allies—on the peace terms to be offered to Japan. At the present time it is easier to keep on building long-range solid fuel rockets, as fast as they can be produced, than to propose an agreement on arms limitation that Russia could accept. And if we keep following this line of least resistance, we may reach, within a few years, a point of no return in an all-out arms race.

With President Kennedy, a number of able men moved into the Administration who are deeply concerned, but so far they have not been able to integrate their collective wisdom and to deflect the seemingly inexorable course of events. I personally find myself in rebellion against the fate that history seems to have in store for us and it appears that there are many others who are equally rebellious. Even though they are in the minority, still this minority could take effective political action, provided they are able to agree on the specific political objectives that must be pursued in order to halt our drifting towards war, and provided they are willing to compensate for their numerical inferiority by making substantial campaign contributions to Congressional candidates—about 2 per cent of their income annually. The contributions of 100,000 such people, having an average income of $7,500, would amount to $15 million per year.

Two interrelated political committees would have to operate in Washington: the Lobby for Abolishing War and the Council for Abolishing War. It would be the function of the Lobby to advise the people where their contributions ought to go in order to bring about a change in Congressional attitudes that would encourage the Administration to pursue truly constructive policies. The Lobby would support those now in Congress who are deeply concerned about our drifting towards war. More importantly, the Lobby would strive to find able men and women, similarly concerned, who could get elected to Congress if they received the nomination of their party. It would be the task of the Lobby to persuade them to seek the nomination, and to help them get the nomination, by assuring them of adequate campaign funds in advance. It would be the task of the Council to bring to Washington from time to time scientists, scholars, and other public-spirited citizens who could help members of the Administration and Congress clarify their minds on the complex issues which have to be resolved if peace is to be established on a reliable basis.

Starting at the Harvard Law School Forum last November and ending at the University of Oregon in January, I spoke at eight universities and colleges across the country. In each place I spoke before large student audiences and I asked the students to help me determine whether a political movement of this sort could get off the ground. The students distributed mimeographed copies of my speech among their elders in their home communities, and to date I have received about 2,500 letters from persons pledging 2 per cent of their income. In view of this response the Lobby and the Council were set up on June 2, in Washington, D. C. The political objectives which the Council may be expected to pursue in the months to come have been outlined in my speech; reprints are now obtainable at 935 East 60th Street in Chicago from the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists.

Don't Blame Basement For Aches And Pains

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

An Elmhurst, Ill., woman has a point. She writes, "Most folks over 50 firmly believe the play hours in the basement rooms are a direct cause of muscular aches, rheumatism, arthritis, colds, cramps, and varicose veins. These rooms usually are 4 to 8 feet below ground level, the walls are painted or paneled, and the floors are made of tile or cement.

"Additional heat is supplied by a fireplace or room heater. Are these claims about aches and pains old time fears or will a basement recreation room ruin the health of the house owner eventually?"

I assume our reader is concerned about dampness, the hard floors, and the temperature. Standing too long on a hard floor may aggravate varicose veins but won't cause them; the fault lies in an inherent weakness of the vein wall.

So far as colds are concerned, these infections are caught from others and are not acquired by working in a basement rumpus room. Dampness may aggravate rheumatism and arthritis but the wear and tear of 50 or more years of using our joints is a more logical culprit.

But there is more to this story. Older persons, especially those who lead a sedentary existence, who work hard in the basement workshop, are likely to suffer from muscular cramps that evening or aching the next day. Standing on a hard floor for hours in wornout shoes strains the arches, whereas working in a stooped position plays havoc with the back. Sitting for long periods, watching TV or playing cards, also strains the lower back and affects circulation to the lower extremities.

Dust and cigaret smoke irritate the throat of some persons. The same can be said of molds found so often in old buildings. In addition, faulty gas appliances may give off carbon monoxide; they should be tested regularly.

Let's sum it up by saying it is not the basement but the age and activity that counts. Dehumidifiers and exhaust fans correct most of the unpleasant aspects of basement quarters.

SKIN FUNGUS

K. P. writes: What is meant by monilial intertrigo? My very old medical book doesn't mention it.

REPLY

Intertrigo is a form of chapping and monilia refers to a fungus. One form of monilial intertrigo occurs on the webs between the fingers in housewives, bartenders, and others who keep their hands in water a good part of the day or evening.

DUPLEX GALL BLADDERS

V. P. writes: Did you ever hear of anyone with two gall bladders?

REPLY

A double gall bladder is uncommon in man; it is said to occur once in 4,000 cases. Only 101 cases have been reported so far. The duplication is more frequent in animals: 1 in 8 in cats, 1 in 28 in calves, and 1 in 298 in swine.

SINUSES ARE SPACE

B. H. writes: Do the sinus glands serve any worthwhile purpose?

REPLY

There are no sinus glands and let's be thankful, because our sinuses and our glands cause enough trouble. The sinuses that connect with the nose are hollow space in the bones of the face and skull.

REPOSITORY TREATMENT

A. C. L. writes: Is this a good time to take the 3 shot series for hay fever?

REPLY

July is the best time for the repository treatment against ragweed. As a rule, this type of immunization is given 6 weeks before the season begins.

PREVENT DEFORMITIES

F. B. writes: Is inflammatory rheumatism a crippling disease?

REPLY

It can be, when neglected. Prompt treatment, followed by physical therapy, will minimize deformities.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

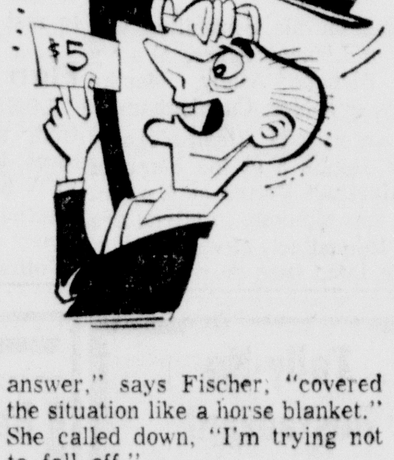
Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

In a sleepy little town the two passenger trains of the day were met faithfully by an antique buggy, driven by a bewhiskered octogenarian, and hitched to a pair of spavined nags who looked even older.

One day a travelling salesman actually got off the morning train, climbed into the hack and ordered, "Drive me to the main hotel." In due course he was deposited in front of the hotel (the only one in a radius of 35 miles) and pulled out his wallet. The smallest bill he could find was a five-spot, and this he handed to the old driver.

The old man studied the bill for several minutes, then declared, "It's a deal, mister. The horses and buggy are yours!"



John Fischer, erudite editor of Harper's, spotted a beloved child perched precariously on the peaked roof of a barn and asked her what she was doing there. "Her answer," says Fischer, "covered the situation like a horse blanket." She called down, "I'm trying not to fall off."

"I'll tell you how old I really am," confided Jack Benny recently to an acquaintance. "I was born in the decade when it still was possible to tell the difference between a bathing beach and a nudist colony."

Exorbitant Land Prices Cited In Probe

Four Times Value, Investigatiors Say

By JOSEPH D. HUTNYAN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators reported Friday that the state of West Virginia paid nearly four times the total value for eight properties purchased in 1959 to build part of a highway through Beckley, W. Va.

The eight parcels were bought from four businessmen who testified during a hearing Friday before the House Highways Investigating Subcommittee.

Testimony showed the State Road Commission paid a total of $181,929 for the property needed for part of W. Va. 16 on South Oakwood Avenue in Beckley.

Frank K. Wall, an appraisal expert from the Bureau of Public Roads, testified that his reappraisals indicated they were worth $44,555.

Subcommittee chairman Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., termed the testimony "a shocking instance of overpayment."

The eight parcels were among 34 studied by the subcommittee on a 1,500-foot stretch of highway singled out for special investigation.

Testimony on the other land takings will be offered when the subcommittee resumes hearings at 2 p.m. Monday.

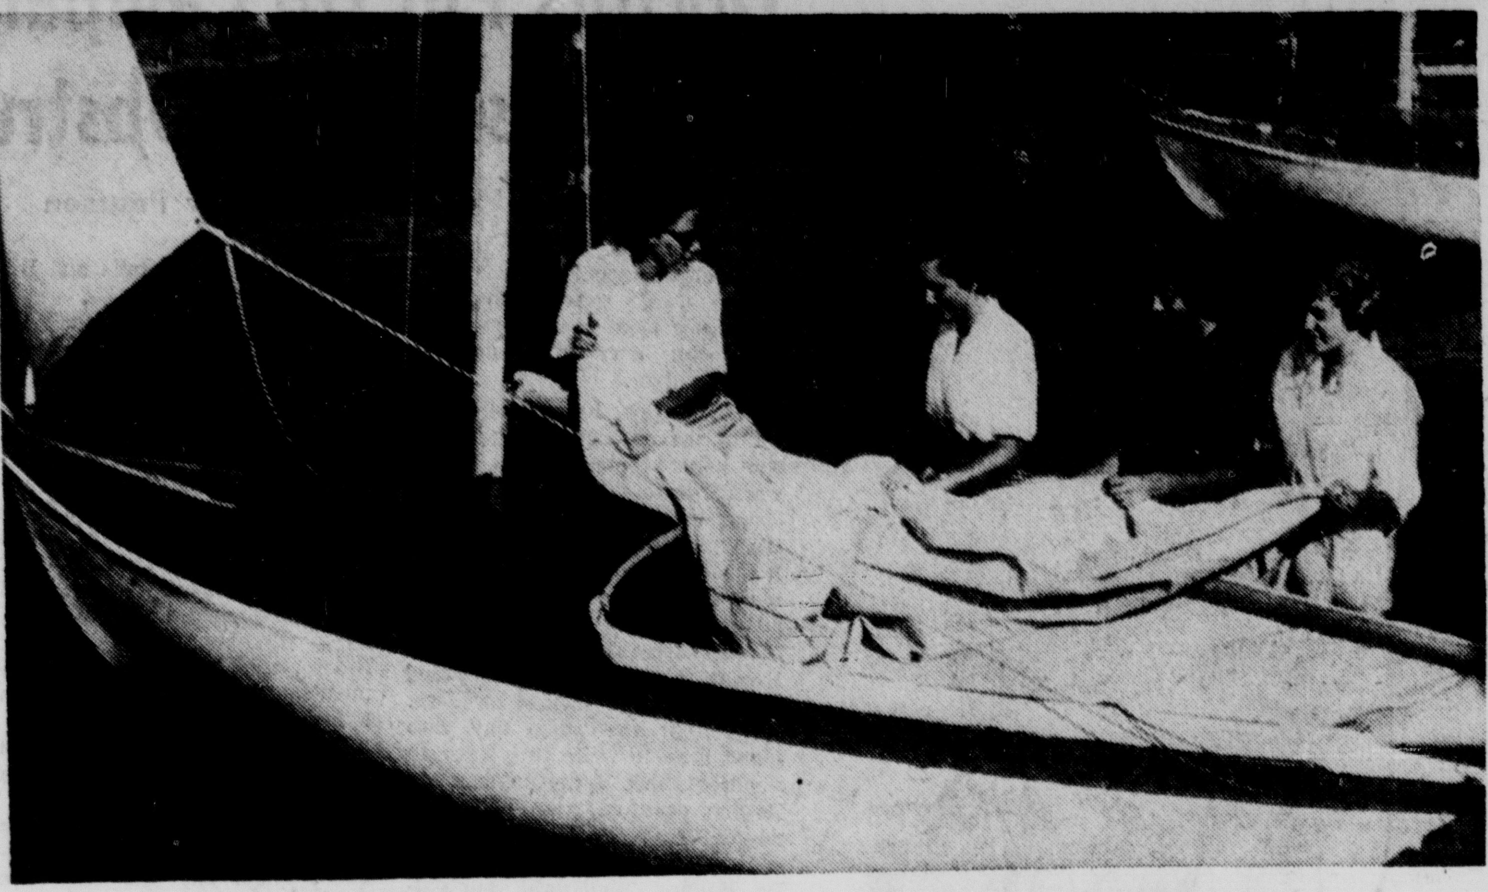
Wright said subcommittee investigations indicated that the state appraisals for the land were adjusted to justify the price the owners were asking.

Two of the businessmen who testified — B. H. Hopkins and John C. Ward — said they lost their businesses because the two-year construction job drove customers away from their establishments. Hopkins sold automobiles and Ward operated a garage.

The subcommittee also heard from Ned Ragland, an attorney, and Earl E. Bibb Sr., operator of a hardware store.

Ragland testified that he received nearly $11,994 — twice the amount of money he had expected — for his land on the right-of-way.

This surprised him, Ragland said, because he had offered to sell the land to the state for $6,500 after the highway agency originally proposed $3,298. And he was expecting to settle for less than $6,500, he said.



Navy Nurse Shows How To Rig Sails

22 Pa. Counties May Cut Hay Off Cropland

Drought-Plagued Areas Benefit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman extended federal drought program benefits Friday to 22 drought-plagued counties in Pennsylvania.

Under his action, farmers in the counties will be permitted to graze and cut hay off cropland retired under the Soil Bank Program as well as land diverted from feed grain and wheat production under stabilization programs.

These privileges will extend through Aug. 31. Normally, farmers are not permitted to graze or harvest any crops off such land.

Freeman said conditions are being studied in other counties for possible extension of the privileges.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., had announced earlier that Freeman would take such action Friday.

Clark's office said the counties included Fayette, Fulton and Somerset.

Senators Urge Fruit Curb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sens. Jennings Randolph and Robert C. Byrd, both D-W. Va., joined senators from 12 other states Friday in asking the State Department to set up efforts to protect U. S. Fruit exports to Europe.

The plea, signed by 18 senators, was in the form of a letter to Undersecretary of State George W. Ball asking removal by European countries of quotas and other non-tariff barriers against U. S. fruits.

The letter also expressed fear that U. S. fruit exports might be hurt if Britain joins the common market.

The United Kingdom, which has lower tariffs on fruits than the Common Market, was termed "an extremely important" market for U. S. fruit producers. The letter said it was feared the tariffs might be raised if Britain joins the European economic community.

Midland Catch Basins, Sewers Are Cleaned

MIDLAND — Street Commissioner Donald Cook reports that all catch basins and sewers have been cleaned and lime scattered at all open sewers.

Grass and weeds along all streets and roads of the community have been cut with the new town power mower.

The Mayor and Council have decided to enforce an ordinance requiring high grass and weeds to be cut on all vacant lots by the property owners. Lots will be inspected and warnings will be issued to property owners. If town workers cut the weeds and grass owners will be billed for the job.

Softball Games Barred From Park

MIDLAND — Numerous complaints were received by Council from residents living near the town ball park of beer drinking and rowdyism during softball games on Sunday afternoons.

Complaints of speeding on Railroad Street to the ball park also were heard by council.

Council voted unanimously to bar all softball games and beer parties at the local ball park and instructed the clerk, David J. Williams, to notify offenders of this action.

Romney Plans Features For Celebration

ROMNEY—An old-fashioned ox roast in open-pit barbecue style, and tournament riding, are two fascinating features of Romney's observance of its 200th birthday August 8, 9, 10 and 11.

The ox roast will be supervised each day by a "pro" who caters to such events, knows his meats and prepares his own palate-pleasing sauce.

Tournament riding will take place on the Deaf and Blind School grounds, as will the entire bicentennial celebration. Fifteen to 20 "Knights", attired in white and wearing colorful sashes to identify their home county, will mount specially - trained horses and vie for the winner's privilege of selecting the tournament queen.

Among numerous interesting exhibits at the bicentennial will be one from the Army which consists of a large, illuminated pictorial piece depicting the service's history; a truckload of caged, native, wild animals from the Department of Natural Resources; a display from West Virginia Pulp and Paper showing the story of that industry and a layout from the General Telephone Company featuring an array of various telephone models and colors, the latest in electronic secretaries, and closed circuit television which enables visitors to see themselves on the screen.

Additional highlights scheduled during the celebration are fly and plug casting, wood sawing and chopping, muzzle loading, tug-of-war games and archery conducted by the Romney Kiwanis Club; the Romney Revue of '62, a musical extravaganza produced and directed by Emmett and Nina Oldfield, professional showmen; drill team competition; grand feature parade; concert by the Metropolitan Police Band of Washington; Jaycee - sponsored open-air Bicentennial queen's ball, and other events to round out a gala four days which are expected to attract thousands of visitors to West Virginia. Parade applications will be accepted until July 28.

Trooper Wins Wits Battle Running For Three Months

PARSONS, W. Va. — A battle of wits between a West Virginia Police corporal and four occupants of a car that wrecked nearly three months ago ended this week — in favor of the police officer who was assisted by an elderly magistrate who, figuartively speaking, "threw the book" at the wrong man.

It all started Easter Day.

On April 22, 1962, a 1960-model automobile owned by Clarence Allen Sherman, 31, of Parsons, ran off the road, over the guard rail and rolled over an embankment on State Route 219 near Mackeyville in Tucker County. With him in the car were Donald Forrest Lowther, 31, of Hendricks, Franklin D. Wilfong, 29, of Elkins and an unidentified man. They miraculously escaped death. The accident was investigated by Cpl. Russell Pitzer of the West Virginia State Police and Deputy Sheriff William Judy of Parsons. The car was a total loss.

There was an eye witness to the accident who ran to the scene of the wreck and looked carefully at the men, including the one who was under the steering wheel of the car as it came to rest over the road bank. This witness told all that he knew concerning the accident to the investigating officer and thereafter remained in the background.

The four men were brought by ambulance to the Tucker County Hospital in Parsons. Sherman and Lowther were treated for minor injuries and released. Wilfong and the then unidentified man left the hospital, it is said, before they were examined or questioned. There were conflicting statements as to who was driving the car at the time it wrecked.

After their release from the hospital Sherman and Lowther were arrested on charges of being intoxicated. Lowther pleaded guilty and was fined. Sherman pleaded not guilty and posted bond for his appearance in magistrates court on May 5. Warrants were issued for Wilfong and the unidentified man.

Meanwhile the search for the unidentified man continued. Approximately one month after the accident Sherman told Cpl. Pitzer that Eugene Hammand of Elkins was the fourth occupant in the car. Hammond, who was named by one of the men as being the driver of the car, was consequently picked up by Cpl. Pitzer and charged with reckless driving and disregard of the safety of persons or property. He was tried before Magistrate R. B. Kyle of Parsons, pleaded guilty, and was fined $50 and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

A few days later, after having time to think the matter over and weigh the consequences, Hammond requested the court to grant him a new trial, stating he was not guilty as charged in the warrant, but that Franklin D. Wilfong of Elkins was the driver of the car at the time it wrecked on April 22.

When questioned the second time about the charge, Hammond signed a statement to the effect that Wilfong had asked him to take the blame for the accident, and that Wilfong had promised to pay his fine if there was a fine resulting from the case. They had not considered the possibility of a jail sentence. At the time the accident occurred Wilfong had no operator's license, as his operator's license had been revoked on January 7, 1962, when he was charged with driving a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

At Hammond's request a new trial was granted. Cpl. Pitzer, being present before the court, also stated that his investigation of the case bore out the claim of the defendant, and his investigation showed Franklin D. Wilfong as being the driver of the car. Taking these facts into consideration, the court granted Hammond a new trial and found him not guilty as charged in the warrant. He was then released.

A warrant was obtained for Wilfong for driving a vehicle when his operator's license had been revoked.

At a preliminary hearing before R. B. Kyle on July 10, Wilfong was held for the grand jury and released on a $500 bond. Present at the hearing was Ray Pennington, of Leadmine, the eye witness to the accident. He had been visiting his uncle, Finley Pennington, at the time and saw the car sliding across the road and he was the first person to the car after it went over the embankment and while the occupants were still in the car. He testified that the man later identified as Franklin Wilfong was sitting under the steering wheel of the car at the time it came to rest on the road bank.

Land Acquired For Keyser Area Dam Site

Only One Parcel Still Is Needed

KEYSER — City Attorney Charles Smith announced Wednesday that the major part of the land needed for Dam Site 14 project has been purchased. One parcel of property is yet to be obtained. This, Smith said, he hoped could be obtained within a week or so.

It is further hoped that construction contracts can be let by the first part of September. Richard Fleek, soil conservationist here for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, estimated that construction would take approximately 400 calendar days.

According to Fleek, the geological survey is completed and final plans are now being processed by the Soil Conservation Service's engineering staff at Upper Darby, Pa., near Philadelphia. Ray Small, local engineering consultant, tentatively approved the plans before they were sent to Upper Darby.

The dam, to be located on Linton Creek (a tributary of New Creek) 15 miles south of Keyser in Grant County, is of multi-purpose design. The flood control project will also augment Keyser's water supply. Water from the dam will be allowed to flow into New Creek from which the city derives most of its water.

Fleek and Smith released the vital statistics concerning the dam. The wall of the dam will be 95 feet high and will back up and hold enough water to cover 960 acre-feet or some 320 million gallons. The surface of the pool, perhaps more aptly termed "lake," will be about 45 acres.

The long sought-after dam has been almost three years in the planning. The project was first conceived and recommended by the Chamber of Commerce's Water Resources Committee in 1960, the chairman of which was Smith.

The U. S. Government approved the plan about one year ago and the city borrowed $200,000 from the Farmer's Home Administration at 2.6 per cent interest to cover the city's share in construction costs. Keyser will pay one-third, or an estimated $120,000, of the actual cost of construction. The total cost is estimated at $360,000.

The dam will be the sixth of 12 flood control dams to be built in the New Creek Valley along the Potomac River and the only one to be used for water supply. The five completed dams are located on the Dana Lough property just south of Keyser; Potomac State Farm (Hoover Hollow); John Arnold Farm near the Blue Jay Restaurant; William McDonald Farm at New Creek and A. J. Pancake Farm, one mile south of New Creek.

Rural Area Development Is Discussed

KEYSER — Discussion of the Rural Area Development Program and its subsidiaries featured the weekly meeting of the Keyser Kiwanis Club with Mineral County Agent Emery L. Prunty as speaker.

Introduced by a former county agent, Joseph Wimer, the speaker gave background information on the organization of the RADP at the request of President John F. Kennedy and then told specifically of the organization in Mineral County.

"The purpose," Prunty said, "is for the improving and expanding of present industry, attracting new industry, and improving recreational and economic conditions." He added that the objects are to promote the general welfare and prosperity of all the citizens and residents of the County and to improve their economic status and conditions; to improve employment opportunities, advance the industrial and commercial life and strengthen the economy of the area by seeking additions to the business life of the county and by fostering local free enterprise in business development.

Prunty explained functions of the Area Redevelopment Act through which federal loans may be secured to assist in the program and of the preparation of the Overall Economic Development Program which has been compiled and submitted by a committee from this area for approval by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Members appointed by the Mineral County Court to work on the report were Lawrence Idleman, Elk Garden, president; T. Warner Lowry, Keyser, vice president; Mrs. Lloyd Hesse, Keyser, secretary; and J. Lee Temple, Keyser, treasurer.

Directors include Joseph A. Blundon, Earl Harman, Dr. John MacLeod, Wade H. Parrill, Fred Price, Bowers Shreve, James Taylor, Walter Tetrick, Temple and Church, all of Keyser; John H. Bane, Clyde Bonar and Garland Ebert, Burlington; Harley O. Dixon, Harold Fredlock, Piedmont; James A. Dixon, Herndon Kitzmiller and Huber Norman, Elk Garden; Charles H. Fryer, Charles Sheppard, Ridgeley; Paul Homan, New Creek, and J. William Marker, Fort Ashby.

The court later also appointed the following persons to the committee: Fred Anderson, Chester Compton, Harry Oss, Ray Small and Mrs. Lucille H. Peters, Keyser; Mrs. Arthur Hartman, Piedmont, and Earl Pritts, Shaw.

Exorbitant Land Prices Cited In Probe

Four Times Value, Investigators Say

By JOSEPH D. HUTNYAN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators reported Friday that the state of West Virginia paid nearly four times the total value for eight properties purchased in 1959 to build part of a highway through Beckley, W. Va.

The eight parcels were bought from four businessmen who testified during a hearing Friday before the House Highways Investigating Subcommittee.

Testimony showed the State Road Commission paid a total of $181,929 for the property needed for part of W. Va. 16 on South Oakwood Avenue in Beckley.

Frank K. Wall, an appraisal expert from the Bureau of Public Roads, testified that his reappraisals indicated they were worth $44,555.

Subcommittee chairman Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., termed the testimony "a shocking instance of overpayment."

The eight parcels were among 34 studied by the subcommittee on a 1,500-foot stretch of highway singled out for special investigation.

Testimony on the other land takings will be offered when the subcommittee resumes hearings at 2 p.m. Monday.

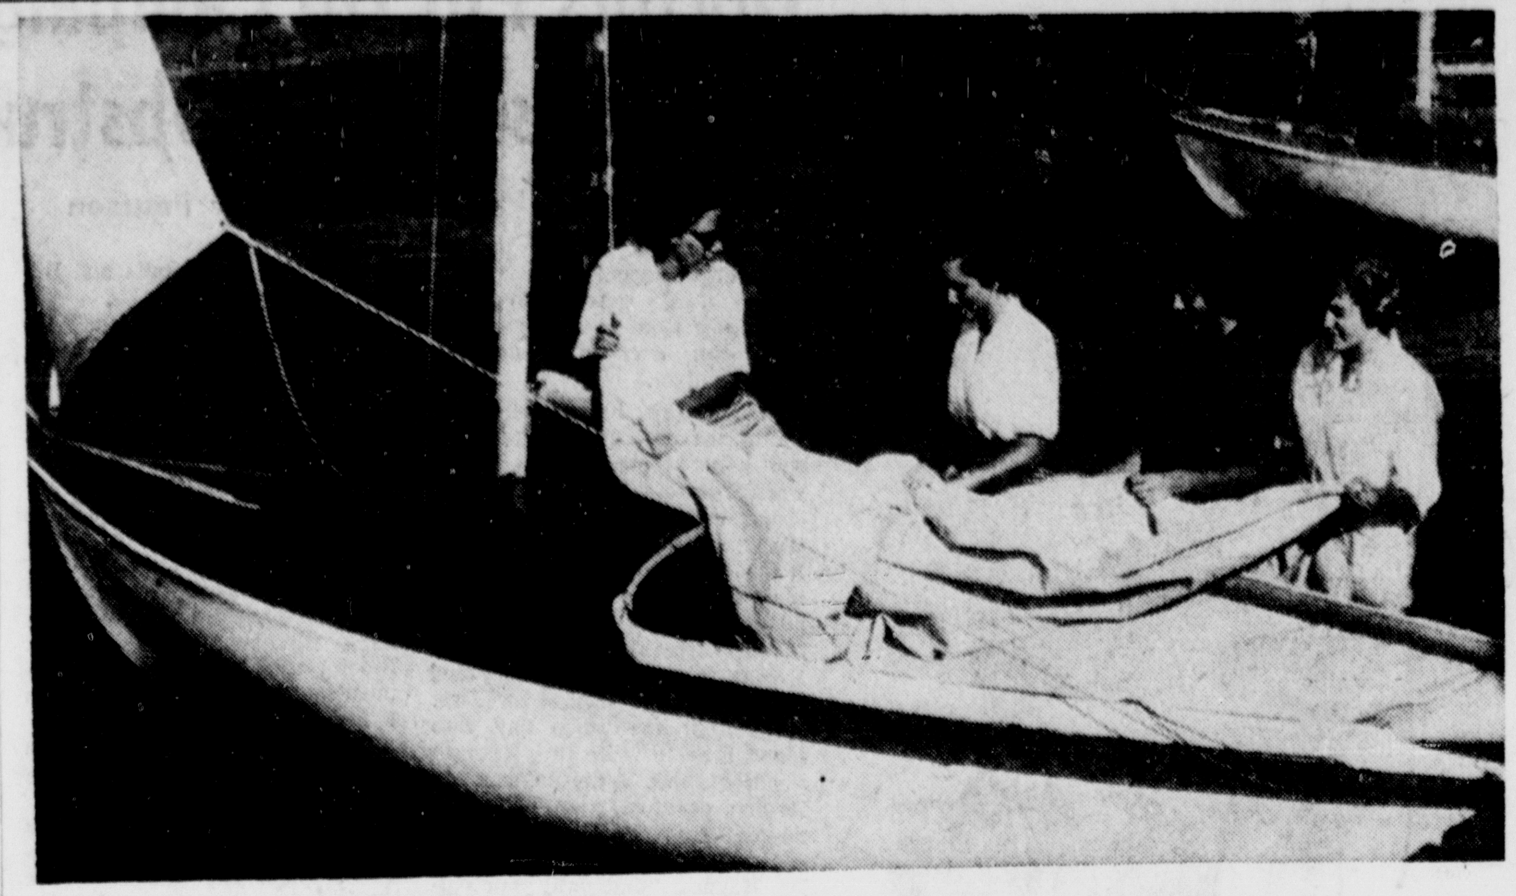
Wright said subcommittee investigations indicated that the state appraisals for the land were adjusted to justify the price the owners were asking.

Two of the businessmen who testified — B. H. Hopkins and John C. Ward — said they lost their businesses because the two-year construction job drove customers away from their establishments. Hopkins sold automobiles and Ward operated a garage.

The subcommittee also heard from Ned Ragland, an attorney, and Earl E. Bibb Sr., operator of a hardware store.

Ragland testified that he received nearly $11,994 — twice the amount of money he had expected — for his land on the right-of-way.

This surprised him, Ragland said, because he had offered to sell the land to the state for $6,500 after the highway agency originally proposed $3,298. And he was expecting to settle for less than $6,500, he said.



Navy Nurse Shows How To Rig Sails

Among the U. S. Navy nurses stationed at Guantanamo Bay, who helped celebrate the 54th birthday of the organization was Lt. Margaret A. Smith, sister of Mrs. Josephine Armstrong of Petersburg, W. Va. Lt. Smith, left, is showing the proper way to rig sails to Mariner Scouts. In the boat getting first hand instructions are, left to right, Susan Griffin, Carolyn Hudson and Chris Malone. Lt. Smith, an avid sailing enthusiast, is presently overhauling her own boat. She entered the Navy in July 1957 and prior to her current assignment at the U. S. Naval Hospital, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, she was assigned to the U. S. Naval Hospital in Portsmouth and the station hospital at Cherry Point, N. C. She soon will be stationed at the U. S. Naval Submarine Base at New London, Conn.

Drought-Plagued Areas Benefit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman extended federal drought program benefits Friday to 22 drought-plagued counties in Pennsylvania.

Under his action, farmers in the counties will be permitted to graze and cut hay off cropland retired under the Soil Bank Program as well as land diverted from feed grain and wheat production under stabilization programs.

These privileges will extend through Aug. 31. Normally, farmers are not permitted to graze or harvest any crops off such land.

Freeman said conditions are being studied in other counties for possible extension of the privileges.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., had announced earlier that Freeman would take such action Friday.

Clark's office said the counties included Fayette, Fulton and Somerset.

Senators Urge Fruit Curb

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sens. Jennings Randolph and Robert C. Byrd, both D-W. Va., joined senators from 12 other states Friday in asking the State Department to set up efforts to protect U. S. Fruit exports to Europe.

The plea, signed by 18 senators, was in the form of a letter to Undersecretary of State George W. Ball asking removal by European countries of quotas and other non-tariff barriers against U. S. fruits.

The letter also expressed fear that U. S. fruit exports might be hurt if Britain joins the common market.

The United Kingdom, which has lower tariffs on fruits than the Common Market, was termed "an extremely important" market for U. S. fruit producers. The letter said it was feared the tariffs might be raised if Britain joins the European economic community.

Romney Plans Features For Celebration

ROMNEY—An old-fashioned ox roast in open-pit barbecue style, and tournament riding, are two fascinating features of Romney's observance of its 200th birthday August 8, 9, 10 and 11.

The ox roast will be supervised each day by a "pro" who caters to such events, knows his meats and prepares his own palate-pleasing sauce.

Trooper Wins Wits Battle Running For Three Months

PARSONS, W. Va. — A battle of wits between a West Virginia Police corporal and four occupants of a car that wrecked nearly three months ago ended this week — in favor of the police officer who was assisted by an elderly magistrate who, figuratively speaking, "threw the book" at the wrong man.

It all started Easter Day.

On April 22, 1962, a 1960-model automobile owned by Clarence Allen Sherman, 31, of Parsons, ran off the road, over the guard rail and rolled over an embankment on State Route 219 near Mackeyville in Tucker County. With him in the car were Donald Forrest Lowther, 31, of Hendricks, Franklin D. Wilfong, 29, of Elkins and an unidentified man. They miraculously escaped death. The accident was investigated by Cpl. Russell Pitzer of the West Virginia State Police and Deputy Sheriff William Judy of Parsons. The car was a total loss.

There was an eye witness to the accident who ran to the scene of the wreck and looked carefully at the men, including the one who was under the steering wheel of the car as it came to rest over the road bank. This witness told all that he knew concerning the accident to the investigating officer and thereafter remained in the background.

The four men were brought by ambulance to the Tucker County Hospital in Parsons. Sherman and Lowther were treated for minor injuries and released. Wilfong and the then unidentified man left the hospital, it is said, before they were examined or questioned. There were conflicting statements as to who was driving the car at the time it wrecked.

After their release from the hospital Sherman and Lowther were arrested on charges of being intoxicated. Lowther pleaded guilty and was fined. Sherman pleaded not guilty and posted bond for his appearance in magistrates court on May 5. Warrants were issued for Wilfong and the unidentified man.

Meanwhile the search for the unidentified man continued. Approximately one month after the accident Sherman told Cpl. Pitzer that Eugene Hammond of Elkins was the fourth occupant in the car. Hammond, who was named by one of the men as being the driver of the car, was consequently picked up by Cpl. Pitzer and charged with reckless driving and disregard of the safety of persons or property. He was tried before Magistrate R. B. Kyle of Parsons, pleaded guilty, and was fined $50 and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail.

A few days later, after having time to think the matter over and weigh the consequences, Hammond requested the court to grant him a new trial, stating he was not guilty as charged in the warrant, but that Franklin D. Wilfong of Elkins was the driver of the car at the time it wrecked on April 22.

When questioned the second time about the charge, Hammond signed a statement to the effect that Wilfong had asked him to take the blame for the accident, and that Wilfong had promised to pay his fine if there was a fine resulting from the case. They had not considered the possibility of a jail sentence. At the time the accident occurred Wilfong had no operator's license, as his operator's license had been revoked on January 7, 1962, when he was charged with driving a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

At Hammond's request a new trial was granted. Cpl. Pitzer, being present before the court, also stated that his investigation of the case bore out the claim of the defendant, and his investigation showed Franklin D. Wilfong as being the driver of the car. Taking these facts into consideration, the court granted Hammond a new trial and found him not guilty as charged in the warrant. He was then released.

A warrant was obtained for Wilfong for driving a vehicle when his operator's license had been revoked.

At a preliminary hearing before R. B. Kyle on July 10, Wilfong was held for the grand jury and released on a $500 bond. Present at the hearing was Ray Pennington, of Leadmine, the eye witness to the accident. He had been visiting his uncle, Finley Pennington, at the time and saw the car sliding across the road and he was the first person to the car after it went over the embankment and while the occupants were still in the car. He testified that the man later identified as Franklin Wilfong was sitting under the steering wheel of the car at the time it came to rest on the road bank.

Land Acquired For Keyser Area Dam Site

Only One Parcel Still Is Needed

KEYSER — City Attorney Charles Smith announced Wednesday that the major part of the land needed for Dam Site 14 project has been purchased. One parcel of property is yet to be obtained. This, Smith said, he hoped could be obtained within a week or so.

It is further hoped that construction contracts can be let by the first part of September. Richard Fleek, soil conservationist here for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, estimated that construction would take approximately 400 calendar days.

According to Fleek, the geological survey is completed and final plans are now being processed by the Soil Conservation Service's engineering staff at Upper Darby, Pa., near Philadelphia. Ray Small, local engineering consultant, tentatively approved the plans before they were sent to Upper Darby.

The dam, to be located on Linton Creek (a tributary of New Creek) 15 miles south of Keyser in Grant County, is of multi-purpose design. The flood control project will also augment Keyser's water supply. Water from the dam will be allowed to flow into New Creek from which the city derives most of its water.

Charley Lau Hits 4 Doubles To Pace Birds

Robinson, Powell Homer; Baltimore Snaps Loss Streak

BALTIMORE (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles broke out of a hitting slump and snapped a three-game losing streak with a 13-hit attack that earned them a 10-3 victory over the second-place Cleveland Indians Friday night.

Reserve catcher Charley Lau of Baltimore hit four doubles to tie a record shared by 27 other major leaguers. Brooks Robinson and John Powell hit home runs to drive in Baltimore's last five runs after the Indians had knocked out Oriole starter Steve Barber in the seventh inning, when they trailed by only two runs.

Skinny Brown came on with Indians on second and third and two out and got Johnny Romano to ground out. He pitched scoreless baseball to preserve Barber's seventh victory. Baltimore had taken a 5-0 lead after the fourth inning against Cleveland starter and loser Jim Perry.

Lau drove in the first run and Jerry Adair knocked in what proved to be the winning run with a two-run single in the fourth inning.

Dodgers Win In 9th, 5-4

Drysdale Cops 16th On Fairly's Homer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ron Fairly's ninth-inning homer powered the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 5-4 triumph Friday night over the stubborn New York Mets, who battled big Don Drysdale every inch of the way before he achieved his 16th victory of the season.

Fairly connected for his eighth homer off loser Alvin Jackson and the blow, which hit the right field roof 320 feet from home plate, increased the Dodgers' lead over the second place San Francisco Giants to 1½ games in the National League race.

Drysdale struck out nine and permitted only seven hits in pitching his sixth complete game in his last six starts. It was also the Dodgers' 11th victory in 12 starts against the Mets, who jumped to a three-run lead when Felix Mantilla homered with two on in the first inning.

Charley Lau Hits 4 Doubles To Pace Birds

Robinson, Powell Homer; Baltimore Snaps Loss Streak

BALTIMORE (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles broke out of a hitting slump and snapped a three-game losing streak with a 13-hit attack that earned them a 10-3 victory over the second-place Cleveland Indians Friday night.

Reserve catcher Charley Lau of Baltimore hit four doubles to tie a record shared by 27 other major leaguers. Brooks Robinson and John Powell hit home runs to drive in Baltimore's last five runs after the Indians had knocked out Oriole starter Steve Barber in the seventh inning, when they trailed by only two runs.

Skinny Brown came on with Indians on second and third and two out and got Johnny Romano to ground out. He pitched scoreless baseball to preserve Barber's seventh victory. Baltimore had taken a 5-0 lead after the fourth inning against Cleveland starter and loser Jim Perry.

Lau drove in the first run and Jerry Adair knocked in what proved to be the winning run with a two-run single in the fourth inning.

Drysdale Cops 16th On Fairly's Homer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ron Fairly's ninth-inning homer powered the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 5-4 triumph Friday night over the stubborn New York Mets, who battled big Don Drysdale every inch of the way before he achieved his 16th victory of the season.

Fairly connected for his eighth homer off loser Alvin Jackson and the blow, which hit the right field roof 320 feet from home plate, increased the Dodgers' lead over the second place San Francisco Giants to 1½ games in the National League race.

Drysdale struck out nine and permitted only seven hits in pitching his sixth complete game in his last six starts. It was also the Dodgers' 11th victory in 12 starts against the Mets, who jumped to a three-run lead when Felix Mantilla homered with two on in the first inning.

Pittsburgh Turns In 5 Double Plays To Stymie Houston

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Bob Friend pitched his second shutout of the season, an eight-hit, 4-0 triumph over the Houston Colts Friday night that marked the third straight victory for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates backed Friend's performance with 11 hits and turned in five double plays to aid the right-hander in crucial moments. In the fourth and seventh innings, Friend allowed two runners on base but the threats were erased by twin killings.

The Pirates got seven of their hits and three runs off loser Dick Farrell. Pittsburgh scored a pair of runs in the first inning on a double, an infield out, a stolen base and a single.

A double steal in the third inning brought the Pirates another run. Dick Groat doubled and Bob Skinner singled. When Clemente struck out, Groat stole home and Skinner took second.

Koonce Blanks Cincinnati On One Hit, 1-0

Sacrifice Fly Scores Cubs Run

CHICAGO (AP) — Cal Koonce, 21-year-old rookie right-hander, blanked Cincinnati on one hit—Don Blasingame's clean single to center field in the fourth inning—to highlight the Chicago Cubs' 1-0 victory over the Reds Friday.

Recording his eighth triumph among 10 decisions, Koonce yielded only one walk and fanned four as he tamed the Reds a third time to offset a single loss to Cincinnati.

After the Cubs scored the only run of the game in the sixth, teammates and umpires restrained Chicago third baseman Ron Santo and loser Bob Purkey, a 14-game winner who suffered his third loss, from engaging in budding fisticuffs.

Santo, returning to the Chicago dugout after delivering a sacrifice fly enabling Ernie Banks to score, exchanged words with Purkey as he cut across the infield.

Seconds later, they charged each other but never reached punching range as members of both teams spilled onto the field to separate the would-be battlers.

Young Koonce made 106 pitches to climax his fourth straight victory and No. 6 of his past seven decisions.

Palmer Rewrites Record Book, Cops British Open 2nd Time

Arnold's 276 Best In 102 Years; Wins By 6-Stroke Margin

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer

TROON, Scotland (AP)—Arnold Palmer shot 12 birdies in two magnificent rounds of golf Friday and retained his British Open championship with a record 276—a whopping six shots in front of his nearest rival.

"I've never played four rounds of golf like these in my whole life," the U.S. Masters champion from Latrobe, Pa., said afterward.

Nagle 2nd With 282

Kel Nagle, 41-year-old Australian, who edged Palmer by one stroke in the 1960 British Open, was second with 282.

It was a case of records all the day for Palmer. He had a record of 67 in the morning over the 7,045-yard par 36-36—72 Old Troon course. His total of 71-69-67-69—276 was two shots better than any previous total in this 102-year-old championship. And his winning margin of six shots equaled the previous record.

The latest man to win the British title by six shots was Walter Hagen, another famous American, who whipped Johnny Farrell by six shots in 1929 at Muirfield in Scotland.

Nagle, as rugged a scrapper as they come, finished with 71-71-70-70—282. Then came Phil Rodgers, La Jolla, Calif., with 75-70-72-72—289. Brian Huggett of England also was on the same mark with 75-71-74-69—289.

Bob Charles, the left-handed hitter from New Zealand, was next with 75-70-70-75—290.

Snead Ties For Sixth

Sam Snead, the 50-year-old slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., and Australia's four-time winner of this event, Peter Thomson, were tied with 292 in sixth place. Snead had rounds of 76-73-72-71 and Thomson shot 72 and 71 to go with his first two rounds of 70 and 77.

Scores of the other Americans were: U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus, Columbus, Ohio 80-72-74-79—305, and former U.S. Public Links champion Don Essig, Indianapolis, 76-72-79-81—308.

Palmer had to master a swarming crowd of 30,000 excited Scots in addition to the tricky Troon links.

The fans swirled all over the fairways, moved at times when players lined up their putts, and talked at other vital shotmaking times.

ANOTHER FOR COLLECTION — Arnold Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa., raises trophy for photographers after winning his second straight British Open golf championship yesterday at Troon, Scotland. His closing rounds of 67 and 69 gave him historic low total of 276. (AP Photofax via radio from London)

Giants Lose 3-2 Battle To Phils

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —Young Dennis Bennett pitched five-hit ball Friday night but then had to survive a ninth-inning rally by San Francisco as the Philadelphia Phillies gained a 3-2 triumph over the second-placed Giants.

The 22-year-old southpaw had allowed but two hits, one of them Chuck Hiller's first homer of the season, when the Giants rallied for a run in the ninth. Harvey Kuenn tripled and Jim Davenport bunted for a single to score the Giant outfielder. Willie Mays hit into a double play, but pinch-batter Bob Nieman singled. The left-hander then got the dangerous Orlando Cepeda on a pop fly to end the game.

The Phils bunched five of their hits in the third to score all of their runs off loser Billy O'Dell.

Koonce Blanks Cincinnati On One Hit, 1-0

Sacrifice Fly Scores Cubs Run

CHICAGO (AP) — Cal Koonce, 21-year-old rookie right-hander, blanked Cincinnati on one hit—Don Blasingame's clean single to center field in the fourth inning—to highlight the Chicago Cubs' 1-0 victory over the Reds Friday.

Recording his eighth triumph among 10 decisions, Koonce yielded only one walk and fanned four as he tamed the Reds a third time to offset a single loss to Cincinnati.

After the Cubs scored the only run of the game in the sixth, teammates and umpires restrained Chicago third baseman Ron Santo and loser Bob Purkey, a 14-game winner who suffered his third loss, from engaging in budding fisticuffs.

Santo, returning to the Chicago dugout after delivering a sacrifice fly enabling Ernie Banks to score, exchanged words with Purkey as he cut across the infield.

Seconds later, they charged each other but never reached punching range as members of both teams spilled onto the field to separate the would-be battlers.

Young Koonce made 106 pitches to climax his fourth straight victory and No. 6 of his past seven decisions.

Palmer Rewrites Record Book, Cops British Open 2nd Time

Arnold's 276 Best In 102 Years; Wins By 6-Stroke Margin

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer

TROON, Scotland (AP)—Arnold Palmer shot 12 birdies in two magnificent rounds of golf Friday and retained his British Open championship with a record 276—a whopping six shots in front of his nearest rival.

"I've never played four rounds of golf like these in my whole life," the U.S. Masters champion from Latrobe, Pa., said afterward.

Nagle 2nd With 282

Kel Nagle, 41-year-old Australian, who edged Palmer by one stroke in the 1960 British Open, was second with 282.

It was a case of records all the day for Palmer. He had a record of 67 in the morning over the 7,045-yard par 36-36—72 Old Troon course. His total of 71-69-67-69—276 was two shots better than any previous total in this 102-year-old championship. And his winning margin of six shots equaled the previous record.

The latest man to win the British title by six shots was Walter Hagen, another famous American, who whipped Johnny Farrell by six shots in 1929 at Muirfield in Scotland.

Nagle, as rugged a scrapper as they come, finished with 71-71-70-70—282. Then came Phil Rodgers, La Jolla, Calif., with 75-70-72-72—289. Brian Huggett of England also was on the same mark with 75-71-74-69—289.

Bob Charles, the left-handed hitter from New Zealand, was next with 75-70-70-75—290.

Snead Ties For Sixth

Sam Snead, the 50-year-old slammer from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., and Australia's four-time winner of this event, Peter Thomson, were tied with 292 in sixth place. Snead had rounds of 76-73-72-71 and Thomson shot 72 and 71 to go with his first two rounds of 70 and 77.

Scores of the other Americans were: U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus, Columbus, Ohio 80-72-74-79—305, and former U.S. Public Links champion Don Essig, Indianapolis, 76-72-79-81—308.

Palmer had to master a swarming crowd of 30,000 excited Scots in addition to the tricky Troon links.

The fans swirled all over the fairways, moved at times when players lined up their putts, and talked at other vital shotmaking times.

ANOTHER FOR COLLECTION — Arnold Palmer, of Latrobe, Pa., raises trophy for photographers after winning his second straight British Open golf championship yesterday at Troon, Scotland. His closing rounds of 67 and 69 gave him historic low total of 276. (AP Photofax via radio from London)

Giants Lose 3-2 Battle To Phils

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —Young Dennis Bennett pitched five-hit ball Friday night but then had to survive a ninth-inning rally by San Francisco as the Philadelphia Phillies gained a 3-2 triumph over the second-placed Giants.

The 22-year-old southpaw had allowed but two hits, one of them Chuck Hiller's first homer of the season, when the Giants rallied for a run in the ninth. Harvey Kuenn tripled and Jim Davenport bunted for a single to score the Giant outfielder. Willie Mays hit into a double play, but pinch-batter Bob Nieman singled. The left-hander then got the dangerous Orlando Cepeda on a pop fly to end the game.

The Phils bunched five of their hits in the third to score all of their runs off loser Billy O'Dell.

Powerful Swiss plows cut trenches 35 feet deep and hundreds of feet long in Antarctic snow. The machine can dig a 300-foot-long gash nine feet wide and four feet deep in less than an hour. Trenches are roofed with steel arches and covered with snow to protect underground facilities.

Market Closes Lower, Ending String Of Gains

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market ran into just enough selling to snap its string of four consecutive advances Friday. Trading was light as prices cruised within fairly narrow limits.

There was nothing of great import in the business and economic news and brok.ers described the action as normal pre-weekend evening up, coupled with some profit-taking on the part of trading interests.

Volume fell to 3,380,000 shares, the week's slowest pace, from a turnover of 5,370,000 the day before. The ticker tape was never late after the opening.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index finished at 57.83 for a modest loss of 0.20. In the Dow-Jones averages, industrials dipped a meager 0.08, rails dropped 0.21, utilities 0.36 and the 65 stock composite average was down only about 1-10th of 1 per cent.

Total declines outnumbered advances 586 to 408 and seven issues touched highs for the year while eight dipped to new lows as 1,261 issues traded—16 less than Thursday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wheat prices held firm, but other grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade lost an early advance and finished mostly lower Friday.

Wheat closed up ¼ to ⅞, corn off ⅛ to ½, oats off ½ to up ⅛, rye off ¼ to 1¼ and soybeans off ⅞ to up ⅝.

Soybean meal futures broke for losses ranging to more than $2 a ton, causing sympathetic selling of nearby soybean deliveries. Strength in oil was an early firming influence.

Dealers said meals met heavy profit-taking, liquidation and spread selling. Some commission houses bought oil and sold meal.

Wheat futures were affected by large deliveries at the start, but prices quickly firmed. Hedge sales were light. Dealers said the winter harvest was virtually completed.

Commission houses bought deferred wheat, while millers and exporters took nearby deliveries. Pakistan bought 1,800,000 bushels of Pacific wheat.

Corn prices eased under commission selling and liquidation. Favorable crop weather discouraged buying. Oats also declined from early levels.

Rye prices turned lower after showing little early trend. Another shipment to Germany brought scattered early buying.

Traders closely watched progress of a compromise farm bill in Congress. A House committee cleared the bill for consideration on the chamber floor next week.

Denmark reportedly bought 1,400,000 bushels of soybeans for autumn shipment.

Outside markets were mixed.

Powerful Swiss plows cut trenches 35 feet deep and hundreds of feet long in Antarctic snow. The machine can dig a 300-foot-long gash nine feet wide and four feet deep in less than an hour. Trenches are roofed with steel arches and covered with snow to protect underground facilities.

Market Closes Lower, Ending String Of Gains

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market ran into just enough selling to snap its string of four consecutive advances Friday. Trading was light as prices cruised within fairly narrow limits.

There was nothing of great import in the business and economic news and brok,ers described the action as normal pre-weekend evening up, coupled with some profit-taking on the part of trading interests.

Volume fell to 3,380,000 shares, the week's slowest pace, from a turnover of 5,370,000 the day before. The ticker tape was never late after the opening.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index finished at 57.83 for a modest loss of 0.20. In the Dow-Jones averages, industrials dipped a meager 0.08, rails dropped 0.21, utilities 0.36 and the 65 stock composite average was down only about 1-10th of 1 per cent.

Total declines outnumbered advances 586 to 408 and seven issues touched highs for the year while eight dipped to new lows as 1,261 issues traded—16 less than Thursday.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI) -- Wheat prices held firm, but other grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade lost an early advance and finished mostly lower Friday.

Wheat closed up ¼ to ⅞, corn off ⅛ to ½, oats off ½ to up ⅛, rye off ¼ to 1¼ and soybeans off ⅞ to up ⅝.

Soybean meal futures broke for losses ranging to more than $2 a ton, causing sympathetic selling of nearby soybean deliveries. Strength in oil was an early firming influence.

Dealers said meals met heavy profit-taking, liquidation and spread selling. Some commission houses bought oil and sold meal.

Wheat futures were affected by large deliveries at the start, but prices quickly firmed. Hedge sales were light. Dealers said the winter harvest was virtually completed.

Commission houses bought deferred wheat, while millers and exporters took nearby deliveries. Pakistan bought 1,800,000 bushels of Pacific wheat.

Corn prices eased under commission selling and liquidation. Favorable crop weather discouraged buying. Oats also declined from early levels.

Rye prices turned lower after showing little early trend. Another shipment to Germany brought scattered early buying.

Traders closely watched progress of a compromise farm bill in Congress. A House committee cleared the bill for consideration on the chamber floor next week.

Denmark reportedly bought 1,400,000 bushels of soybeans for autumn shipment.

Outside markets were mixed.

Cards Of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks to my many friends, neighbors and relatives for their kindness to me during the illness and death of my beloved husband William Dobson. I also wish to thank the minister Rev. J. McClain, the choir, pallbearers, those who loaned cars for the funeral, those who sent flowers, and everyone who assisted me in any way.
Wife — Mrs. William Dobson

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our friends, neighbors and relatives who were so kind to us at the death of our beloved husband and father, Robert Sperry. We especially thank those who sent flowers and cards, those who donated the use of cars and all others who in any manner rendered assistance.
Mrs. Phyllis Sperry

In Memoriam

Gone But Not Forgotten
In loving memory of our dear father, Barry L. Reynolds, who passed away 3 years ago July 15, 1959.
Our dad is gone but not forgotten
In our hearts he will always stay
Word's can't say how much we miss him
Since God called him away.
Sadly missed by his two daughters
Mrs. Roy W. Stafford
Mrs. Betty J. Fishel

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK
The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 144 Commerce-raiding vessels the Confederates sent out in 1861 and 1862 to prey on Union ships failed to put a stop to the first exportations of petroleum to Europe.

The war was more a stimulant than a deterrent of the new industry that sprang up in region of Titusville, Pa., in 1859, and spread through Allegheny River Valley in 1860 and 1861.

The United States, an exporter of whale oil for lamps and other purposes since colonial days, naturally became an exporter of petroleum. Following a trial shipment to England of barrels of crude oil barged down creek and connecting streams to Philadelphia in November 1861, regular transatlantic commerce in oil developed in 1862.

All shipments by water were made in barrels until 1869, when a specially constructed tankship was put in service between Philadelphia and Antwerp.

Girl Scout Camp To Hold Visitor's Day

Visitor's day will be observed Sunday from 3 to 5 p. m. at Camp Tioga, Shawnee Girl Scout Council camp near Flintstone.

A program will be presented at the new swimming pool at 3:15 p. m. celebrating the 50th anniversary of Girl Scouting in the U. S. Tours of camp will be conducted and the program will close with a formal flag ceremony.

Swimming has been one of the popular activities at camp this summer with instructions for all girls and an opportunity to work for proficiency badge and lifesaving awards.

There has been a total of 87 in camp this week including the staff. Campers came from Frostburg, Keyser, Tri-Towns, Swanton, Bedford, Everett, Cumberland, Martinsburg, W. Va., and Portsmouth, N. H.

The camp council, composed of two representatives from each unit, meets several times during each encampment. Activities planned for this period include an International Progressive Dinner, a crazy day and an Indian Battle with the Frosty Belles. Serving on the camp council for this two-week period are Jane Reinhart, Virginia Adam, Rozann Dashiell, Cathy Hutchinson, Elaine Crosten and Maureen Day.

Each week, the Maryland Academy of Arts and Sciences delivers an exhibit to camp for display for one week. These have included birds of Maryland, wildlife and Indian artifacts. Movies have been shown on safety, international friendship and arts and crafts.

The Camp Tioga Committee met yesterday at camp and the Board of Directors of the Council will hold a meeting Monday.

There are still some vacancies in the last period July 23-August 4 for all-age Scouts including Brownies who will be entering third or fourth grade this fall. Application may be made at the Girl Scout office, 72 Greene Street, Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Camping is an integral part of the year-around program of the Girl Scouts, an agency of the County United Fund.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK
The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 144 Commerce-raiding vessels the Confederates sent out in 1861 and 1862 to prey on Union ships failed to put a stop to the first exportations of petroleum to Europe.

The war was more a stimulant than a deterrent of the new industry that sprang up in region of Titusville, Pa., in 1859, and spread through Allegheny River Valley in 1860 and 1861.

The United States, an exporter of whale oil for lamps and other purposes since colonial days, naturally became an exporter of petroleum. Following a trial shipment to England of barrels of crude oil barged down creek and connecting streams to Philadelphia in November 1861, regular transatlantic commerce in oil developed in 1862.

All shipments by water were made in barrels until 1869, when a specially constructed tankship was put in service between Philadelphia and Antwerp.

South End Unit Asserts Need For New School

Fort Hill's Bulging Enrollment Cited

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

A spokesman for the South Cumberland Business and Civic Association asserted last night that the overcrowded condition of Fort Hill High School is convincing proof that there already is an immediate need for a new junior high school in that area.

C. Glenn Watson, Jr., president of the association, said the entire board of directors of the association concurred with him in his views on the need for a new junior high school to serve South End and the East Side.

Mr. Watson's statement was in opposition to one issued Tuesday by John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners, who said then that he was opposed to location of one of two proposed new junior high schools in South Cumberland.

"Loss Of Tax Revenue"

In his statement Tuesday, Mr. Rowan said that a South End junior high school at this time "would mean unnecessary loss of tax revenue," and that proof for the need of a county school in that section is lacking."

Mr. Watson, to refute Mr. Rowan's contention on loss of tax revenue, pointed out that the 27.5-acre tract which the Board of Education seeks to purchase for the site for the South Cumberland Junior High School is assessed for only $5,800. On the basis of the present county tax rate of $1.85, the county derives $107.30 this year from this property in county real estate taxes without consideration of a discount for payment before September.

Enrollment of Fort Hill High School in the year starting in September will be more than 2,000 students and would be more than 2,300 were it not for the fact that school officials are keeping more than 200 seventh graders at Penn Avenue School for an additional year, Mr. Watson noted.

When it was built in 1936, Fort Hill was planned to take care of 1,500 or 1,600 students, the association president observed.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster met with the Board of County Commissioners on June 29 to seek the commissioners' approval of the Board of Education plans to buy the tract for the South Cumberland junior high school.

Mr. Webster explained that he was doing this because the board plans to utilize 15 acres of the 27.5-acre tract for the school whereas the property owners want to sell the entire tract. Title to any land not needed for the school would revert to the county commissioners who then would have the responsibility of selling the land.

Mason Makes Motion

Commissioner John T. Mason moved that permission be granted but neither Mr. Rowan nor Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon would second the motion.

Mr. Watson contended last night any land adjacent to the school not needed for the school could be sold for home sites. Experience has shown that property values increase rather than decrease in the neighborhood of a school, he added. He cited the growth in the Fort Hill area since 1936 and around the Parkside School in LaVale as just two illustrations of this point.

The president of the South Cumberland Business and Civic Association went on to stress that there is considerable new construction in the South Cumberland area. He said that in the two years between July 1, 1960, and June 30, 1962, building permits were issued by the City for 113 new residents in the South End area which the conservative builders estimate will cost $975,000 to construct. This does not include the Fort Cumberland Homes low rent housing project, he added.

In Election District 16, North Branch, a county area immediately adjacent to South Cumberland, permits for residential building costing a total of $195,400 were issued in the past eight months, Mr. Watson added.

"The need for an addition to the educational program in South Cumberland is now," Mr. Watson asserted. "The Board of Education has made a comprehensive study and feels there is an immediate need which should be filled by immediate construction.

"There is a dire need for both junior high schools in North and South Cumberland right now," Mr. Watson continued. "Allegany County has had a good school system, but if we don't provide the needed new facilities the county school program will go backwards," he concluded.

Mr. Rowan had said in his statement Tuesday that he recommends construction of the North End junior high school on the county garage property at the end of Franklin Street but that the site for the second school should not be decided until it is known what shift the population takes in the next several years.

The president of the county commissioners stated that when the sewage problems confronting LaVale and Cresaptown are solved, these sections are going to experience an even greater growth than is taking place now.

At least 800 children attended the all-day event at Constitution Park.

Man Convicted Of Murder In Snider Slaying

Frederick M. Mefford, 29, of Baltimore County, yesterday was convicted of first degree murder and robbery with a deadly weapon in the slaying last March 4 of a former local resident.

Judges Stewart Day and Edwin Harland found Mefford guilty of killing Willis R. Snider, 38, who was operating a service station on Pulaski Highway near Baltimore at the time of his death.

Mr. Snider, who was a native of Irons Mountain and a former resident of Williams Road, was shot in the head during a holdup and died several hours later in a hospital.

Judges Day and Harlan of the Harford County Circuit Court deferred sentence pendig trial of a co-defendant, Earl L. Blackburn, 28, of Baltimore.

During the week-long trial the state contended the victim was shot through the head after bandits ordered him to count to 50 while they rifled his cash register.

Blackburn's trial on a first degree murder charge is expected to get under way next week in Bel Air where the Mefford trial also was held.

Earlier yesterday, the court denied a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal for Mefford.

The motion was made after the state rested its case, in which 15 state's witnesses testified.

The state has asked that Mefford be sentenced to death.

Mr. Snider was a former employe of the B&O Railroad here and had moved to Baltimore in 1950. He began work at the service station about a year before his death.

City Playground Picnic Attracts 800 Youngsters

The annual Intra-City Playground Picnic was held at Constitution Park yesterday and was attended by an estimated 800 youngsters from 14 playgrounds. At least 600 of them frolicked in the park swimming pool during the afternoon.

The picnic was held during perfect weather after being deferred from Thursday because of rain.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, general playground supervisor, said it was one of the most successful picnics ever held.

Games featured the morning play program as Patty Boggs, of Mapleside Playground, won the Ring Tac Toe tournament for girls; Gary Soult, for boys, and Mike Hartsock, of Johnson Heights, the outdoor bowling contest for boys.

Winners of the picnic games in the 6-8 age group included Randy Cunningham, Robin Cunningham, Steven Smith, Wayne Anderson, Jerry Bates and Mary Ketterman.

Among winners in the 10-12 age games were Donna Cunningham, Donald Llewellyn, Anna Wertz, Michael Wilson, Janice Carolan, Franklin Yates, Sandra George, Scott Deneen, Allen Miller, Janet Matthews, Edward Berry, Richard Wertz, Gilbert Llewellyn and Judy Watson.

During the afternoon most of the youngsters went to the Constitution Park swimming pool to participate in varied events. Winner of the 25-yard race for swimmers was John Footen, Mapleside. Charles Keyes, Pine Avenue Playground, won the baloon race.

Winners in contests for beginner swimmers were Leroy Younger, of Centre Street, and Harold Winger, Johnson Heights.

In the non-swimmers contests, winners were Roy Lewis, Mapleside, and Vernon Redmond, Pine Avenue.

Second National Bank Issues Annual Report

The Second National Bank reports assets of $20,793,515.16 at the close of June, 1962. Total deposits and net earning were slightly below those on the comparable date a year ago although outstanding loans registered a moderate increase during the same period. Capital funds continued their upward trend, amounting to a book value of $84.41 per share at the end of the first half of this year.

Dividend coverage of $2.79 declined 32 cents this year from last year's coverage of $3.11. Two reasons for the decline were increased interest on deposits and net larger transfers to reserves. It is estimated that the recent increase to 3½ per cent in the interest rate on savings will cause an annual decline of approximately $1 per share in after-tax income.

Joseph M. Naughton, president, said in a statement to stockholders that with due allowance for the current uncertainty in the national economic outlook business prospects for the Cumberland area and the Second National continue to be favorable.

Two local business barometers are maintaining their upward trend. The number of employes in local major industries at the end of May 1962, was 6.1 per cent greater than on the comparable date a year ago while payrolls increased 14.4 per cent (up from $32.6 to $37.2 million) over the total for the first five months of 1961.

Mr. Naughton reported that the total volume of Cumberland business may roughly be measured by the total dollar volume of checks paid. For the first five months of 1962, this check total was 16 per cent, (largest for any Maryland city,) greater than for the same period a year ago, in contrast with an increase of only nine per cent for the total of Maryland's major cities.

Injunction Complaint Aired

Testimony was heard by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday concerning a contention that Tony Freno, trading as Ferdinand's Dairy and Snack Bar, is violating the terms of a permanent injunction prohibiting loud noise on the premises along Bedford Road.

Some 25 residents and property owners along Bedford Road filed a bill of complaint in June 1961 seeking a permanent injunction against the noise on the premises. Judge Cobey signed a decree last December 5 permanently enjoining Freno from permitting loud noise on the premises.

Yesterday's hearing concerned a complaint that the injunction is being violated. Seven witnesses were called by the complainants and 11 by the defendant.

Judge Cobey gave the opposing attorneys until next Wednesday to file supplemental briefs in the case. Earl E. Manges represents the complaints and Gorman E. Getty the defendant.

Police Staff Changes Are Made By Keegan

Each Shift Will Have Detective

A number of changes have been made in the Cumberland Police Department in a program announced yesterday by Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

The realignment, made in the interest of efficiency and economy, places an officer in charge of each shift, assigns an officer to take charge of traffic on the daylight and evening platoons and provides for having a detective on duty during all three shifts.

The plan provides for Chief B. F. Gaffney to be in charge of the 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. platoon; Assistant Chief John E. Sherry, who has been in charge of the daylight platoon, was assigned to be in charge of the 3 to 11 p.m. platoon, and Lt. Donald H. Smith, who has been serving in that capacity from 3-11 p.m., was transferred to officer in charge of the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. platoon.

Add Coverage

Two officers were appointed to head traffic details on two of the platoons.

They are Lt. Raymond R. Johnston, who will head the traffic detail from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m., and Sgt. E. Gordon Hite, from 3 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Sgt. Hite was succeeded as desk sergeant on the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. platoon by Sgt. Robert L. Gilpin.

To provide for a detective on duty around the clock, Lt. Thomas J. See, who has been in command of the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. platoon, has been transferred to the Detective Bureau and assigned to the 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. shift, and Detective Royce J. Clayton, who has been serving in the Detective Bureau on the 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. trick, has been assigned to the 1 to 9 a.m. shift.

Left Turn Sign

A number of signs have been ordered, Mr. Keegan said, to improve the flow of traffic throughout the city.

The department is also in the process of acquiring a delayed type traffic light to be added to the traffic control plan at the intersection of Baltimore and Centre streets.

He said the light, to be put up in the immediate future, will allow an interval of approximately 10 seconds for vehicles which want to make a left turn off Baltimore Street.

Plans are also being made, he said, to improve the flow of traffic at Baltimore and Mechanic streets.

College Head Gets Thanks

F. Douglass Sears, Maryland's insurance commissioner, has just written a letter of thanks to Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president of the Allegany Community College, for the fact that the college here offered a course for prospective insurance agents during the past school year.

Wagner, Stoystown, Pa., a certified casualty underwriter, taught the course. It will be given again in September by Mr. Wagner on Tuesday and Friday evenings.

Higher qualifications for agents and brokers will greatly benefit the insuring public and the insurance industry, Mr. Sears wrote.

He spoke of Dr. Zimmer as a pioneer in this grass-roots insurance education. The college president had arranged for the first such course two years ago during his last year at Montgomery Junior College.

The Allegany-Garrett County Insurance Dealers Association cooperated with the college in starting the course.

State Surplus $6.1 Million In Fiscal '62

$12 Million On Hand To Balance Budget

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland ended the fiscal year June 30 with a general fund surplus $6,179,000 in excess of estimates, Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported Friday.

He said the revenue, combined with $6 million still left in a revenue deficiency fund set aside by Gov. Tawes, will provide at least $12 million additional toward balancing the budget to be submitted to the 1963 legislature.

Some $4.8 million of the excess for the year just ended came from income and sales tax collections which surpassed estimates.

Individual income taxes yielded $76.8 million, or $1.9 million more than estimated corporation income taxes yielded $17.6 million or $577,000 over the estimate; and the sales tax produced $90.9 million, some $2.3 million more than estimated.

Goldstein said the figures are a preliminary tabulation subject to minor adjustments later. "These tax collections, which exceeded even the high estimates which were established last December, reflect the healthy economic condition of the state and the strength of its business structure," Goldstein said.

The increased revenue yield brought the total surplus for the fiscal year just ended to $18.1 million, not including working advances of $1,764,000 to various state departments. But $11.5 million was used by Gov. Tawes in balancing the budget for the current fiscal year without a tax increase. He also tapped half of a $12 million reserve in order to accomplish this.

Other revenue yields compared with estimates included: State tobacco tax $11.3 million, down $557,000; franchise taxes $11.4 million, $105,000 over estimates tax on insurance companies $9.9 million, $15,000 over estimates; tax on horse racing $5.8 million, $150,000 over estimates death taxes $6.5 million, $600,000 over estimates; hospital and training school inmate fees 4.3 million, $412,000 over estimates and miscellaneous taxes, fees, fines and recoveries $8.3 million, $122,000 over estimates.

Karl Steinmann Dies Suddenly In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Karl F. Steinmann, 62, died suddenly at his home Friday after becoming ill early Friday morning.

An attorney and former member of the State Aviation Commission, Steinmann was the owner of the Tower Building in Baltimore, which houses the Baltimore bureau of The Associated Press. He bought the building in 1942 and moved his law offices into an upper floor suite of rooms in 1948.

He also owned radio station WCUM in Cumberland for several years, and his son, Eldred, was its general manager.

As an attorney, Steinmann represented the Blaustein interests when the American Oil Co. was sold. For a time he also represented the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American and WBAL, then a radio station which since has expanded into television.

In 1947 Steinmann and his wife, Gerdaline, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Steinmann, established the Steinmann Foundation for the promotion of charitable, educational and scientific activities.

A native Baltimorean, Steinmann was actively identified with the city's civic and cultural life for many years. He was particularly active in the Advertising Club and he was a member of the board of governors of the Civic Opera Co.

He was appointed to the State Aviation Commission by the late Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor in 1944 and served through O'Conor's second administration.

South End Unit Asserts Need For New School

Fort Hill's Bulging Enrollment Cited

By ALBERT D. DARRY
News Staff Writer

A spokesman for the South Cumberland Business and Civic Association asserted last night that the overcrowded condition of Fort Hill High School is convincing proof that there already is an immediate need for a new junior high school in that area.

C. Glenn Watson, Jr., president of the association, said the entire board of directors of the association concurred with him in his views on the need for a new junior high school to serve South End and the East Side.

Mr. Watson's statement was in opposition to one issued Tuesday by John J. Rowan, president of the Board of County Commissioners, who said then that he was opposed to location of one of two proposed new junior high schools in South Cumberland.

"Loss Of Tax Revenue"

In his statement Tuesday, Mr. Rowan said that a South End junior high school at this time "would mean unnecessary loss of tax revenue," and that proof for the need of a county school in that section is lacking."

Mr. Watson, to refute Mr. Rowan's contention on loss of tax revenue, pointed out that the 27.5-acre tract which the Board of Education seeks to purchase for the site for the South Cumberland Junior High School is assessed for only $5,800. On the basis of the present county tax rate of $1.85, the county derives $107.30 this year from this property in county real estate taxes without consideration of a discount for payment before September.

Enrollment of Fort Hill High School in the year starting in September will be more than 2,000 students and would be more than 2,300 were it not for the fact that school officials are keeping more than 200 seventh graders at Penn Avenue School for an additional year, Mr. Watson noted.

When it was built in 1936, Fort Hill was planned to take care of 1,500 or 1,600 students, the association president observed.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster met with the Board of County Commissioners on June 29 to seek the commissioners' approval of the Board of Education plans to buy the tract for the South Cumberland junior high school.

Mr. Webster explained that he was doing this because the board plans to utilize 15 acres of the 27.5-acre tract for the school whereas the property owners want to sell the entire tract. Title to any land not needed for the school would revert to the county commissioners who then would have the responsibility of selling the land.

Mason Makes Motion

Commissioner John T. Mason moved that permission be granted but neither Mr. Rowan nor Commissioner Louis V. Shinnamon would second the motion.

Mr. Watson contended last night any land adjacent to the school not needed for the school could be sold for home sites. Experience has shown that property values increase rather than decrease in the neighborhood of a school, he added. He cited the growth in the Fort Hill area since 1936 and around the Parkside School in LaVale as just two illustrations of this point.

The president of the South Cumberland Business and Civic Association went on to stress that there is considerable new construction in the South Cumberland area. He said that in the two years between July 1, 1960, and June 30, 1962, building permits were issued by the City for 113 new residents in the South End area which the conservative builders estimate will cost $975,000 to construct. This does not include the Fort Cumberland Homes low rent housing project, he added.

In Election District 16, North Branch, a county area immediately adjacent to South Cumberland, permits for residential building costing a total of $195,400 were issued in the past eight months, Mr. Watson added.

"The need for an addition to the educational program in South Cumberland is now," Mr. Watson asserted. "The Board of Education has made a comprehensive study and feels there is an immediate need which should be filled by immediate construction.

"There is a dire need for both junior high schools in North and South Cumberland right now," Mr. Watson continued. "Allegany County has had a good school system, but if we don't provide the needed new facilities the county school program will go backwards," he concluded.

Mr. Rowan had said in his statement Tuesday that he recommends construction of the North End junior high school on the county garage property at the end of Franklin Street but that the site for the second school should not be decided until it is known what shift the population takes in the next several years.

The president of the county commissioners stated that when the sewage problems confronting LaVale and Cresaptown are solved, these sections are going to experience an even greater growth than is taking place now.

Man Convicted Of Murder In Snider Slaying

Frederick M. Mefford, 29, of Baltimore County, yesterday was convicted of first degree murder and robbery with a deadly weapon in the slaying last March 4 of a former local resident.

Judges Stewart Day and Edwin Harland found Mefford guilty of killing Willis R. Snider, 38, who was operating a service station on Pulaski Highway near Baltimore at the time of his death.

Mr. Snider, who was a native of Irons Mountain and a former resident of Williams Road, was shot in the head during a holdup and died several hours later in a hospital.

Judges Day and Harlan of the Harford County Circuit Court deferred sentence pendig trial of a co-defendant, Earl L. Blackburn, 28, of Baltimore.

During the week-long trial the state contended the victim was shot through the head after bandits ordered him to count to 50 while they rifled his cash register.

Blackburn's trial on a first degree murder charge is expected to get under way next week in Bel Air where the Mefford trial also was held.

Earlier yesterday, the court denied a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal for Mefford.

The motion was made after the state rested its case, in which 15 state's witnesses testified.

The state has asked that Mefford be sentenced to death.

Mr. Snider was a former employe of the B&O Railroad here and had moved to Baltimore in 1950. He began work at the service station about a year before his death.

City Playground Picnic Attracts 800 Youngsters

The annual Intra-City Playground Picnic was held at Constitution Park yesterday and was attended by an estimated 800 youngsters from 14 playgrounds. At least 600 of them frolicked in the park swimming pool during the afternoon.

The picnic was held during perfect weather after being deferred from Thursday because of rain.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, general playground supervisor, said it was one of the most successful picnics ever held.

Games featured the morning play program as Patty Boggs, of Mapleside Playground, won the Ring Tac Toe tournament for girls; Gary Soult, for boys, and Mike Hartsock, of Johnson Heights, the outdoor bowling contest for boys.

Winners of the picnic games in the 6-8 age group included Randy Cunningham, Robin Cunningham, Steven Smith, Wayne Anderson, Jerry Bates and Mary Ketterman.

Second National Bank Issues Annual Report

The Second National Bank reports assets of $20,793,515.16 at the close of June, 1962. Total deposits and net earning were slightly below those on the comparable date a year ago although outstanding loans registered a moderate increase during the same period. Capital funds continued their upward trend, amounting to a book value of $84.41 per share at the end of the first half of this year.

Dividend coverage of $2.79 declined 32 cents this year from last year's coverage of $3.11. Two reasons for the decline were increased interest on deposits and net larger transfers to reserves. It is estimated that the recent increase to 3½ per cent in the interest rate on savings will cause an annual decline of approximately $1 per share in after-tax income.

Joseph M. Naughton, president, said in a statement to stockholders that with due allowance for the current uncertainty in the national economic outlook business prospects for the Cumberland area and the Second National continue to be favorable.

Two local business barometers are maintaining their upward trend. The number of employes in local major industries at the end of May 1962, was 6.1 per cent greater than on the comparable date a year ago while payrolls increased 14.4 per cent (up from $32.6 to $37.2 million) over the total for the first five months of 1961.

Mr. Naughton reported that the total volume of Cumberland business may roughly be measured by the total dollar volume of checks paid. For the first five months of 1962, this check total was 16 per cent, (largest for any Maryland city,) greater than for the same period a year ago, in contrast with an increase of only nine per cent for the total of Maryland's major cities.

Injunction Complaint Aired

Testimony was heard by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday concerning a contention that Tony Freno, trading as Ferdinand's Dairy and Snack Bar, is violating the terms of a permanent injunction prohibiting loud noise on the premises along Bedford Road.

Some 25 residents and property owners along Bedford Road filed a bill of complaint in June 1961 seeking a permanent injunction against the noise on the premises. Judge Cobey signed a decree last December 5 permanently enjoining Freno from permitting loud noise on the premises.

Yesterday's hearing concerned a complaint that the injunction is being violated. Seven witnesses were called by the complainants and 11 by the defendant.

Judge Cobey gave the opposing attorneys until next Wednesday to file supplemental briefs in the case. Earl E. Manges represents the complaints and Gorman E. Getty the defendant.

College Head Gets Thanks

F. Douglass Sears, Maryland's insurance commissioner, has just written a letter of thanks to Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, president of the Allegany Community College, for the fact that the college here offered a course for prospective insurance agents during the past school year.

Mr. Sears wrote that all but one of the eight persons who had taken the insurance course passed the insurance examination which was given them on June 16. Paul L. Wagner, Stoystown, Pa., a certified casualty underwriter, taught the course. It will be given again in September by Mr. Wagner on Tuesday and Friday evenings.

Higher qualifications for agents and brokers will greatly benefit the insuring public and the insurance industry, Mr. Sears wrote.

He spoke of Dr. Zimmer as a pioneer in this grass-roots insurance education. The college president had arranged for the first such course two years ago during his last year at Montgomery Junior College.

The Allegany-Garrett County Insurance Dealers Association cooperated with the college in starting the course.

Rizer Invited To Conference

Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer will attend a two-week invitational workshop and seminar starting Monday and ending Friday, July 27, at Columbia University in New York City.

Some 59 assistant superintendents and directors of instruction from 24 different states have been invited to the conference. The only other Marylander is Quinton L. Earhart, assistant superintendent for instruction in Frederick County. Fifty-one men and eight women are in the group.

Curriculum problems and trends in the major areas of public education in the United States will be considered. These areas include social studies, English, science and mathematics.

Dr. Gordon N. MacKenzie and Dr. Dwight Teel, both of the Columbia University staff, will direct the conference. Dr. John H. Fischer, dean of the Teachers College of Columbia University and former superintendent of schools in Baltimore City, will deliver an opening address at the conference Monday morning.

Members of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company responded to two fire alarms yesterday.

Some eight LaVale volunteers and seven from Corriganville responded to the Atlantic Service Station in the Narrows at 9:15 a. m. when a brake and tire on a tractor-trailer of the Hubbard Tire Company, Youngstown, Ohio, caught fire. Firemen were on the scene about 45 minutes but damage was restricted to an inside tire and the brakes.

A second call at 9:20 p. m. sent 23 volunteers scurrying up the hillside to the rear of 800 Valley View Drive to extinguish a burning trash pile. Fire Chief James Loar was in charge of the fire fighters.

State Surplus $6.1 Million In Fiscal '62

$12 Million On Hand To Balance Budget

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Maryland ended the fiscal year June 30 with a general fund surplus $6,179,000 in excess of estimates, Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein reported Friday.

He said the revenue, combined with $6 million still left in a revenue deficiency fund set aside by Gov. Tawes, will provide at least $12 million additional toward balancing the budget to be submitted to the 1963 legislature.

Some $4.8 million of the excess for the year just ended came from income and sales tax collections which surpassed estimates.

Individual income taxes yielded $76.8 million, or $1.9 million more than estimated corporation income taxes yielded $17.6 million or $577,000 over the estimate; and the sales tax produced $90.9 million, some $2.3 million more than estimated.

Goldstein said the figures are a preliminary tabulation subject to minor adjustments later. "These tax collections, which exceeded even the high estimates which were established last December, reflect the healthy economic condition of the state and the strength of its business structure," Goldstein said.

The increased revenue yield brought the total surplus for the fiscal year just ended to $18.1 million, not including working advances of $1,764,000 to various state departments. But $11.5 million was used by Gov. Tawes in balancing the budget for the current fiscal year without a tax increase. He also tapped half of a $12 million reserve in order to accomplish this.

Other revenue yields compared with estimates included: State tobacco tax $11.3 million, down $557,000; franchise taxes $11.4 million, $105,000 over estimates tax on insurance companies $9.9 million, $15,000 over estimates; tax on horse racing $5.8 million, $150,000 over estimates death taxes $6.5 million, $600,000 over estimates; hospital and training school inmate fees 4.3 million, $412,000 over estimates and miscellaneous taxes, fees, fines and recoveries $8.3 million, $122,000 over estimates.

Karl Steinmann Dies Suddenly In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Karl F. Steinmann, 62, died suddenly at his home Friday after becoming ill early Friday morning.

An attorney and former member of the State Aviation Commission, Steinmann was the owner of the Tower Building in Baltimore, which houses the Baltimore bureau of The Associated Press. He bought the building in 1942 and moved his law offices into an upper floor suite of rooms in 1948.

He also owned radio station WCUM in Cumberland for several years, and his son, Eldred, was its general manager.

As an attorney, Steinmann represented the Blaustein interests when the American Oil Co. was sold. For a time he also represented the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American and WBAL, then a radio station which since has expanded into television.

In 1947 Steinmann and his wife, Gerdaline, and his mother, Mrs. Mary Steinmann, established the Steinmann Foundation for the promotion of charitable, educational and scientific activities.

A native Baltimorean, Steinmann was actively identified with the city's civic and cultural life for many years. He was particularly active in the Advertising Club and he was a member of the board of governors of the Civic Opera Co..

He was appointed to the State Aviation Commission by the late Gov. Herbert R. O'Conor in 1944 and served through O'Conor's second administration.

Survivors include his widow, two sons, Frederick and Eldred, and a daughter, Mary.

Funeral services will be held Monday at St. David's Episcopal Church in Baltimore, with burial in Loudon Park Cemetery.

Telstar's First Live Shows Set

The first live trans-Atlantic television programs to be transmitted between the three American networks and European television organizations are scheduled to be broadcast via the Telstar satellite on Monday, July 23.

The two historic programs, each about 15 minutes in length, will be relayed by the communications satellite—one from North America to Europe and the other from Europe to North America.

The date of July 23 was selected because it is the first day after the launching of Telstar that programs of equal length can be transmitted during successive orbits of the satellite and shown on each continent during normal viewing hours.

The planning and execution of the two programs will mark the most extensive cooperative effort ever undertaken by the American television networks and European broadcast organizations.

The first program will be produced jointly by the three network news departments: ABC News, CBS News and NBC News. It will include live remote pickups from several points showing actual events as they are happening in North America at the time of the broadcast.

The second program will be produced by the 16-nation European Broadcasting Union. It will include live pictures from widely separated points, representative of Europe's mountains, rivers and capital cities.

Both programs will be relayed by the Telstar satellite.

Beautiful Actress Not Craving For Stardom

INGA SWENSON

NEW YORK (NEA)—What does it take to be a star? That is the question which mildly troubles Inga Swenson.

Here is a girl who seems to have all the ingredients for top-flight stardom. She is tall, blonde, blue-eyed and as beautiful as a girl can be and still remain legal. Her acting skill is attested by her credits—two years playing Shakespeare in Stratford, Conn., important roles in such big-budget films as "Advise and Consent," and "The Miracle Worker."

"I'm not bugged by not being a star," she says. "I don't know why I'm not. All I do know is that I think it's too late now—if it was going to happen, it woud have happened."

... Jim BACKUS

Jim Backus, veteran of many stage, screen and television roles, has a new one. He's the host of "Talent Scouts", the hour-long summer replacement for "The Gary Moore Show" on Tuesday nights over the CBS-TV network.

MUSIC — Earl Wrightson, host of a local New York television show which won an Emmy, said musicals like "South Pacific," "Carousel" contain as many good songs as operas like "Il Trovatore" and "LaTraviata." James Drury Wins Rigid Role Battle

James Drury, who stars this fall in NBC-TV's new, 90-minute filmed color series, "The Virginian," won the title role over more than 110 contenders for a very simple reason, according to producer Charles Marquis Warren.

"Drury was the best actor we tested," Warren said. "We weren't looking for a six-foot, four-inch, good-looking boy we could teach to act, because we needed an actor who could hold his own.

"We threw every emotion in the book into the scenes we wrote for those who tested for the title role. The screen tests were far more severe than any I'd ever seen before, and Drury was the only one who came through.

New Comedian Added To Network Television

There's a new comedian coming to network television. His name is Tim Conway. Tim, until recently, was known as Tom Conway, a producer-director-performer on a Cleveland station. Previously, he appeared on the Steve Allen Shows.

This fall Conway will get another regular berth when he joins the cast of fine supporting actors in "McHale's Men," the half-hour weekly series which will star Ernest Borgnine.

LIKES U. S. MUSIC — Earl Wrightson, host of a local New York television show which won an Emmy, says musicals like "South Pacific," "Carousel" contain as many good songs as operas like "Il Trovatore" and "LaTraviata." Wrightson has sung opera and concerts and was a star on radio in days radio had regular musical shows of high quality.

James Drury Wins Rigid Role Battle

James Drury, who stars this fall in NBC-TV's new, 90-minute filmed color series, "The Virginian," won the title role over more than 110 contenders for a very simple reason, according to producer Charles Marquis Warren.

"Drury was the best actor we tested," Warren said. "We weren't looking for a six-foot, four-inch, good-looking boy we could teach to act, because we needed an actor who could hold his own.

"We threw every emotion in the book into the scenes we wrote for those who tested for the title role. The screen tests were far more severe than any I'd ever seen before, and Drury was the only one who came through.
